'An inn for all seasons'

New faces at the Red Lion Inn

By Erin Dale
edale@wickedlocal.com

With a new general manager and executive chef, big changes are in store for the Red Lion Inn.

John Cowden, the new GM, and chef Michael Brentana both started working at the inn last month and are implementing some fresh ideas and initiatives.

Along with an all-new menu, there will be new events and operating hours. Cowden plans to open up the inn for more than just the weekend. Currently the inn is open on Friday for dinner, and Saturday and Sunday for lunch and dinner; this will soon expand to Wednesday through Sunday, for both lunch and dinner. The new menu could also include breakfast, said Cowden.

New management also means an all-new culinary crew and new sales and marketing team.

"It's a blank slate," said Cowden. "There's just so much potential. We're creating multiple events that will bring life to this old inn."

The Red Lion Inn has been part of the village scenery since the 1700s, with a structure that was literally built into the rock ledge. In recent years it has been known primarily for

Malone making the rounds

State Secretary of Education stops by Cohasset for a visit

By Erin Dale
edale@wickedlocal.com

State Secretary of Education Matthew Malone, director of the Executive Office of Education, visited the Cohasset school district on Thursday, April 10.

Cohasset Superintendent of Schools Barbara Cataldo said that the visit came about last-minute this week, but she felt privileged to give Malone a tour.

"It's an honor to have him come visit us," said Cataldo. "He serves such an important role. He's so dynamic and so devoted to education; he cares about kids."

Malone spent around an hour touring all the schools on Thursday morning before departing for the Weymouth district. The education secretary initiated the visit, as his goal is to "visit all the schools in the Commonwealth," said Cataldo.

Malone took pictures and posted them on his Twitter account (@MassEducation) as he toured the schools, along with Field Operations Director Jacqueline Anglin, Cataldo, President of the Cohasset Teacher's Association Patricia Thompson, and School Committee chairman Paul Schubert.

Schubert said Wednesday that he was looking forward to meeting Malone, having followed his career over the years.

"He is a real star," said Schubert. "When I started getting involved in schools

"He came and saw how small a school district we are, but what he commented on was the plentitude of courses and the opportunities for students."

Cohasset Supt. of Schools Barbara Cataldo

15 years ago, I looked around at the districts that had problems and how they handled things, because we're a high-performing district but there are ways to make it better. Matt Malone went into Brockton, where he served as superintendent.

"If you look at the Brockton district over the past 15 years, it has turned around like you wouldn't believe," said Schubert, "from a tough inner city district to standard middle class..."

When I heard the governor appointed him, I [thought] he made a good choice. He is really quite a hands-on kind of guy... He's done really amazing work."

Cataldo said she felt encouraged by the visit.

"He came and saw how small a school district we are, but what he commented on was the plentitude of courses and the opportunities for students," the superintendent said, adding that Malone appeared to be im-

Board not in favor

Votes not to recommend petitioned articles

By Erin Dale
edale@wickedlocal.com

Selectmen do not support two citizens' petitions on the Annual Town Meeting warrant, saying that they are redundant to state law.

The board voted unanimously Monday not to recommend the two petitions to voters who will have the final say April 28.

One of the articles seeks to create a bylaw that would eliminate patronage, which is usually described as a conflict of interest special privilege or financial aid; however the article is centered on the selectmen and their friends and family in an attempt to keep them from "pressuring or influencing" for public jobs.

The second article also focuses on selectmen, asking for another bylaw to require board members to disclose any monies or gift they receive in excess of $50.

While citizens' petitions will appear on the Annual Town Meeting warrant with or without town officials' support, the selectmen still took both articles to vote - and opposed each one.

"We have state statutes for this," said selectman Martha Gjestey, calling the petitions "redundant."

Selectmen chair Fred Koed listed off the various state agencies that cover these is-

Pastor Stephen McDonald

Name: Stephen McDonald

Occupation: Pastor of Beechwood Congregational Church

Best day of your life: The day I married my wife. I had to chase her for sixteen months before she agreed to go on a date with me. So when we got married, I was quite ecstatic that this was actually happening. I married way over my head.

Best vacation: Any trip with my wife is absolutely wonderful. However, perhaps the most unique trip that I have been on was when my Dad and I went to Israel a couple of years ago. I come from a family of five, and my Dad and I always have been close but had never gone on a trip or done something like this with it being just the two of us. We had a great time.

Favorite season: Spring is exciting because the weather is warming up and plants are coming back to life. It doesn't hurt that March Madness, the start of baseball season, the Masters, and Easter all take place in the spring.

Favorite holiday: Christmas. I love the music, the weather (haven't gotten tired of winter yet at that time), and most importantly celebrating the birth of Jesus.

Favorite junk food, meal or dessert: Ever since I was four or five, I have loved Goldfish snack crackers.

Best book: I love to read. Apart from the Bible, I have a hard time choosing. This is like asking someone to pick a favorite child. I love books about history, baseball history, theology, politics, and I always love a good novel.

Best movie or actor: Inception and Field of Dreams are my two favorite movies.

Best TV show: It's hard to beat an episode of The Andy Griffith Show on Netflix at the end of the day. My wife and I enjoy watching seasons of 24 together.

Best music, group or artist: This is tough. I go on kicks.

The Mariner caught up with Stephen McDonald, the new pastor of Beechwood Congregational Church (51 Church Street). If you see Stepehn around town, be sure to tell him that you spotted him in Picture This! PHOTO/ERIN DALE

Right now, Keith and Kristyn Getty are getting a lot of play on my iTunes. In addition, I enjoy rappers from the 116 Clique (Lecrae, Trip Lee, etc.). Finally, I enjoy listening to Celtic Woman. I know that is quite the eclectic combination. My music tastes are always changing.

Pet peeve: Being late.

Most embarrassing moment or fun fact about yourself: I had quite an intramural sports career in college. My dodgeball team won the school championship for three straight years. We never lost a game, and I take way too much pride in my dodgeball accomplishments.

Person you would most like to meet: Aside from meeting Jesus, I would like to meet the Apostle Paul. He was a man whose life was radically changed by the Gospel of Jesus, and this transformation gave him an unexplainable joy amidst whatever came his way.

Goal: I want my life to count. I want to have a part in people seeing Jesus and finding the joy and satisfaction that can only be found in Him.

Biggest worry: My biggest worry is that I will settle for far too little. I fear that I can point and lead my church to many "good" things but that we could miss out on far too much in seeing the glory of God in lives changed by the gospel.

Best part of Cohasset: The people have been very nice, and the magnificent views of the harbor and the ocean are fantastic. I cannot wait to drive all the winding, tree-covered two-lane roads in the area in the fall when the leaves are full of color. Last, but definitely not least, I am pretty fond of the sweet church family that I get to pastor at Beechwood Congregational Church.

POLICE BEAT

Suspicious person call leads to warrant arrest

On Monday, April 7 at 6:15 p.m. police were called to a Forest Avenue home for a past report of a suspicious male. On scene, police learned that a white male dressed in blue jeans, a gray sweatshirt, and black jacket with a hoodie pulled up over his head was roaming around the caller's backyard earlier in the evening. Instead of calling the police, the female occupant of the home called her father to report the stranger in the yard. The father in turn called Cohasset Police and made the report several minutes after the incident.

Cohasset Police issued a BOLO ("be on lookout") for the suspect, Matthew J. Earner, 27, of Hull, and he was stopped on the Hingham/Cohasset line on Route 3A. Checks through the state warrant management system showed two outstanding warrants for the man. Both warrants were defaults issued by Quincy District Court - one warrant was for Possession of Class B drugs, resisting arrest, and conspiracy to violate the drug laws, while the second warrant was for Larceny over $250. Earner was taken to Cohasset Police headquarters, where he was held without bail until Tuesday; he may be summonsed to Quincy District Court when the police investigation is complete. Police are urging residents to call the police immediately if they notice a suspicious person.

Dinner rolls stolen from restaurant

The owner of a restaurant on Ripley Road reported a larceny to police on Friday, April 4. A full shipment of dinner rolls was allegedly taken sometime between 7 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. that day. The owner of the business explained that she routinely receives a shipment of rolls on Fridays and they were gone from the area of the rear of the establishment. The rolls, all 144 of them, were valued at approximately $25. The restaurant staff canvassed the neighborhood for the missing bread but found neither the rolls nor any suspects. Police quipped that it's unclear at this point if this theft is in any way connected to the shrimp heist at Shaw's Market a few weeks ago.

Man summonsed for driving without a license

A 34-year-old man is being summonsed to Quincy District Court for operating a motor vehicle without a driver's license and speeding. Police stopped the man on Thursday, April 3 just after 10 a.m. for speeding on South Main Street near the intersection of Summer Street. Checks completed by the officer via the Massachusetts Registry of Motor Vehicles revealed that the man, a native Brazilian, did not have a license to drive in the United States. The man admitted to the officer that he has been staying in Rockland for the past five years, and that he is unable to get a Massachusetts Driver's License.

Police called after mother/son argument escalates

On Monday, March 31, police were called to diffuse an argument between a mother and her teenaged son. The teenager was refusing to abide by house rules and had his cellular telephone taken away as punishment, which caused an extreme argument. The mother asked officers to respond to her home to speak to her son about obeying his mother while the father was on a business trip out of state. Officers spoke to the boy and peace was restored.

Police launch new app to better connect with community

The Cohasset Police Department has found a new way to communicate with and inform residents of their town. This week, the department began using the "My Police Department" or "MyPD" phone application as a means to provide notifications and information to citizens regarding events, crimes, and wanted persons. MyPD is an app that can be downloaded free through iTunes or Google Play. With it, citizens have access to a number of features, including certain department contacts, feedback functions, and tip forms. Users can also access information from FEMA, the National Weather Service and the Massachusetts Sex Offender Registry, and much more, according to Cohasset Police.

"Our MyPD app is a great addition to the agency and goes directly toward my goal making the department more accessible to residents via the Internet and through the use of technology," said Acting Chief of Police William Quigley. "We can push out notifications and alerts to the public via Twitter and the public has a variety of ways to contact us and give us feedback easily from a smartphone or tablet."

Quigley said that while calling 9-1-1 continues to be the appropriate method to report emergency situations and request a response from the police department, the app will provide people with email addresses for certain department personnel and provide yet another avenue to interact with the department in non-critical situations.

The MyPD app is compatible with both Apple and Android smart phones.

CPD ramps up response to ODs

By Erin Dale
edale@wickedlocal.com

In response to a Cohasset man's heroin overdose in Brockton last month, a recent arrest of a Brockton man for heroin possession in Cohasset, and a heroin overdose in town two weeks ago, Cohasset police are coming up with new ways to fight the war on drugs.

All Cohasset police cruisers are now equipped with Narcan, an inhalant that reverses the effects of a drug overdose.

"The fact that we're carrying Narcan is an unfortunate sign of the times," said Acting Police Chief William Quigley. "But it adds to the life-saving equipment we carry in the cruiser, including oxygen, AEDs and tourniquets."

Cohasset fire department paramedics used Narcan successfully last week, reviving a woman who overdosed using heroin. The police and fire department are working in tandem to address this, Officer Paul Wilson said.

"Depending on who gets there first, we'll be able to help people with this unfortunate problem."

Wilson said that soon, all of the officers will be trained to distribute Narcan. "It's a problem that unfortunately is growing, and we're going to see more in Cohasset," said Wilson. "It's going to be standard training in the police department starting next year. All our officers have been trained to use it, so we're ready to go."

Wilson added, "Hopefully, we won't have to use it."

The Acting Chief, along with Det. Lt. Gregory Lennon, recently updated selectmen on how the public safety team is dealing with the overdose problem.

Not only is prescription drug abuse "the nation's fastest growing drug problem," Lennon said, "it's a significant threat to Cohasset, and leads to heroin abuse. People build up a tolerance and as time goes on, they need more and more."

Lennon explained that most drug abuse cases start at home - and prescription drugs are the gateway to harsher substances. Often, teens are the ones raiding their parents' medicine cabinets, Lennon said. "Young adults often steal their supplies from their families."

The police department has a prescription drug take-back kiosk in the lobby of the police station and encourages people to clean out medicine cabinets on a regular basis, and throw out any unused or expired medications.

"If you no longer need it, it's a good option to get it out of the house," said Lennon.

Saving lives

In addition to Narcan, officers

All Cohasset Police will soon be trained to administer Narcan an inhalant that can save lives by reversing the affects of drug overdose.

are also carrying new automated external defibrillators (AEDs). The new medical kits are easier to use than the ones the department used to carry, said Wilson, and can save lives faster.

"They're quicker to set up, quicker to use and fully automated to make a quicker transition to actually use them," he said. "Before had to open up the pads, attach them to the machine and press analyze. Now, the pads are already hooked up, so we just have to open the case, put the pads on the patient, and the machine [works] automatically. It's going to save time."

The new AEDs are also compatible with the latest CPR guidelines and also has a metronome letting the administrator know "exactly how long to do compressions," said Wilson.

The kits cost $7,300, half of which was obtained through an Executive Office of Public Safety and Security grant, and the town paid the other half, Quigley said. The department went from having four AEDs on hand to 10.

Wilson said that there is now an AED in the police department's lobby, "so if someone comes in having a cardiac issue, we're able to help them."

Runner helps liver transplant patient

Cohasset High School student underwent successful operation last year

By Ed Baker
ebaker@wickedlocal.com

A half-hour after Michael Cicchese, 27, ran across the Boston Marathon finish line last year, two explosions echoed through Copley Square, and he said his Marine training instinctively told him something terrible had happened.

"The first words out of my mouth were, 'This is not good,'" said Cicchese, a 2004 Weymouth High School graduate and integrated technology intern in State Street Bank's vendor management group.

Cicchese said he then stepped into a restaurant in Copley Square where a large crowd of people who had watched the marathon had gathered.

"Two minutes later, I saw people running down the street," Cicchese said. "I then knew it had to be an explosion."

The bombs allegedly detonated by Dzhokhar Tsarnaev and his brother Tamerlan killed three people and injured 264 spectators, according to state and federal officials. Dzhokhar Tsarnaev, 20, faces 30 federal charges in connection with the bombings. Tamerlan, 26, died from wounds he received in a shootout with police several days later.

Cicchese said the bombings have not deterred him from training to run in the April 21 marathon, and he is running to raise funds for the American Liver Foundation in honor of Brenden Morrissey, 16, a Cohasset High School student who underwent a successful liver transplant operation last year.

"My fundraising goal is $4,000," Cicchese said. "I hope to top it by $1,500."

Brenden's mother Karen Morrissey said she donated a portion of her liver to her son, who was diagnosed with primary sclerosing cholangitis in February 2010. Primary sclerosing cholangitis, according to the Mayo Clinic, is a progressive disease of that leads to liver damage and eventually liver failure. Liver transplant is the only known cure, but a transplant is typically reserved for people with severe liver damage.

Morrissey said Brenden had no symptoms of primary sclerosing cholangitis when he was diagnosed with the disease.

"They did not think he would need a liver transplant until the future, but in February 2012 he began to experience symptoms," Morrissey said.

Signs and symptoms of primary sclerosing cholangitis include abdominal pain, chills, diarrhea, fatigue, fever, itchiness, weight loss, yellowing of the eyes and skin. Morrissey said Brenden was placed on a donor's list in January 2013 after he displayed a variety of symptoms during a series of cholangitis attacks in 2012.

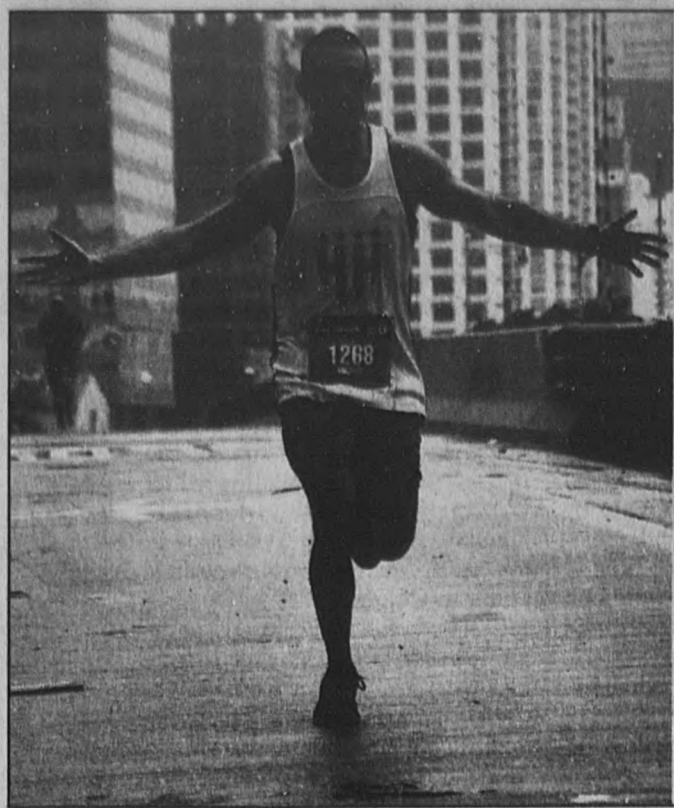

"I always wanted to be a donor and I was determined to be a match for Brenden," she said. "I had to have a liver biopsy to be sure I was a match and I donated 60 percent of my liver on Feb. 21, 2013. We were in separate hospitals. I was in the Lahey Clinic and he was in Children's Hospital."

Morrissey said Lahey surgeons removed a portion of her liver and it was transported to Boston Children's Hospital for Brendan to receive.

"He is doing amazingly well," Morrissey said. "He has gained 35 pounds and grown four inches since the operation and returned to school. My liver has fully grown back and Brenden is 16."

Morrissey said the American Liver Foundation named Brenden champion of its Liver Life Walk to be held June 29 at Patriot Place in Foxboro.

"What a difference a year makes," she said.

Morrissey said Brendan is enjoying good health since the transplant and celebrated the anniversary of the operation by getting a learner's permit to drive from the Registry of Motor Vehicles.

"He is on the debate team and the school volunteer club," Morrissey said. "He writes for the school art magazine."

Morrissey said Brenden is quite interested in science and his medical challenges are motivating him to become a doctor.

Cicchese said he got acquainted with Brenden following a phone call with the American Liver Foundation.

"I called up the liver foundation and they have a patient-runner matchup," Cicchese said. "It was a great opportunity to help out."

Morrissey said she and Brendan are grateful to Cicchese for running on behalf of the American Liver Foundation.

"We are so excited to support Mike and the American Liver Foundation," Morrissey said. "It is the one-year anniversary of the operation and the one-year anniversary of the tragedy at the marathon. It should be an amazing day."

Cicchese said he has run in marathons in Washington, D.C., San Diego and Miami, but the Boston Marathon is the best to participate in because of the support from spectators.

"You never see anything there compared to what you see in Boston," he said. "The Boston marathoners are spoiled."

Cicchese said he is training for the marathon while working as an intern at State Street Bank and completing graduate studies in business administration at Northeastern University.

"My undergraduate degree is in economics," he said. "I received the degree from UMass-Amherst. I finished that degree program this winter and am now focusing on getting a masters degree in business. I have another year to go to get my MBA."

Cicchese said his weekly training regimen involves running several miles daily Monday through Thursday and working out on a treadmill.

"I run three to five miles a week on the treadmill," he said. "On Saturday and Sunday, I run eight to 10 miles."

Additional details about Cicchese's participation in the marathon on behalf of the American Liver Foundation are available at go.liverfoundation.org/goto/mikecicchese.

TOWN MEETING

Voters will tackle capital projects

By Erin Dale
edale@wickedlocal.com

From school buses to new technology, Town Meeting will be asked to vote on a slew of capital projects.

Sam Wakeman of the Capital Budget Committee presented a list of more than 20 projects, compiled in Article 7 on the Town Meeting warrant (the annual Town Meeting is Monday, April 28). The requests will cost more than $1.5 million in total; Wakeman said there is more than $2 million in capital expenditures available to spend on these projects in fiscal year 2015, which starts July 1.

The capital committee has also done projections over the next 10 years, and there is "anywhere from $25 million to $35 million in projects done the road," said Wakeman.

For now, voters are being asked to deal with the most pressing issues, such as a new dump truck for the department of public works, new police cruisers, leasing a fleet of school buses (rather than purchasing), and implementing a new information technology infrastructure for both the town and school operations.

Wakeman said it took the committee some time to review all of these requests, and vowed that next year the board plans to improve its process.

"We're slowly getting there, getting organized," said Wakeman. "Hopefully next year we'll start earlier. It will have some people mad because we'll have cut-off dates" to submit requests, he said. "This is the type of thing that should be done by the first of the year."

Town Manager Chris Senior applauded the capital committee's transparency.

"It's better for the voters," said Wakeman. "They will see where we didn't spend money" and how unspent funds are being repurposed. "They'll know we have a better handle on the financial health of the town."

Selectman Steve Gaumer wanted to know what the oldest project on the docket is. Wakeman said it's harbor dredging dating back to 1995.

"That's a long period of time," said Gaumer, adding that if projects are even three years old, the funds should be re-appropriated.

Senior said since he started working for the town in January, he has been meeting weekly with the town's finance team, Finance Director Mary Gallagher and Treasurer Collector Paula Linhares in an effort "not to let these things slip."

Gaumer said he appreciated the effort to "go back and reviews projects and see where we are."

Capital project highlights

Some of the proposed projects are as follows:

- Gas remediation to address a safety hazard at the DPW: $20,000
- A new 35,000-pound dump truck for the DPW: $130,000
- Pump-out boat equipment for the harbor master: $100,000 (with $25,000 from the capital fund)
- A marked police cruiser ($35,000) and unmarked cruiser, replacing a lieutenant's old car: $27,000
- High school building roof repair: $30,000
- Completion of IT infrastructure project: $157,000 (with $57,000 from capital)
- School bus leasing program: $75,000
- Compilation list of all the town's assets: $20,000

TOWN HALL

Renovation plans pushed back

Selectmen seek further study

By Erin Dale
edale@wickedlocal.com

The proposed Town Hall renovation design plans, which were expected to cost upwards of $600,000, are not going to Town Meeting this year.

After several board meetings with presentations by the Town Hall Renovation Committee chairman David Farrag and architect Eric Kluz, officials decided this week they would like more concrete information before having citizens vote on conceptual designs.

After convening on both Monday night and Thursday morning, selectmen are "proposing some additional study is done to help clarify the issues," Town Manager Chris Senior said in a phone call Thursday.

Issues include a lack of site surveys and title reports on the Town Hall structure. The town manager said soil analysis and studies of where the ledge is around the building must be conducted before design plans are finalized.

"Additional work needs to be done before there's any [further] discussion on a detailed project," said Senior. "To go from conceptual to any project, we need to have more facts; that's what the selectmen are looking to fund."

Cohasset's Community Preservation Committee (CPC) already approved funding half of the design schemes, around $300,000; however, Farrag noted that the committee voted to approve these funds two weeks ago. Since then the renovation committee has presented to selectmen, Capital Budget and Advisory committees, but has yet to meet as a full committee to vote on whether to scale back - or scrap - the plans. Senior said since the Town Meeting warrant closes today (Friday, April 11), the CPC proposal will not make the final cut.

"The intent is not to go forward" with asking for the $300,000, said Senior. Other CPC projects will still appear in a single article on the warrant.

In the meantime, selectman Steve Gaumer said the board should vote to recharge the Town Hall Renovation Committee to continue working on the project. The committee was formed in 2012 to explore ways to restore the historic building, which was erected in 1857 and restored in the 1920s, with an addition built in 1987.

"We need to come up with concrete information," said Gaumer.

Selectmen vice-chairwoman Diane Kennedy said that additional study would be warranted whether the current design scheme was moving forward or not. "We need really specific engineering and a site survey... things that would be the next step anyway," she said.

Taking time to conduct further study and revise the plans is not a step backward, said Senior. "The [renovation] committee did great work; the selectmen want to recognize that."

While a final feasibility report was posted on the town website recently, Senior said that "ongoing analysis" will continue to take place. A revised warrant article will ask voters to consider funding another feasibility study to "look at potential construction methods" and "see where additional cost savings might be had."

Senior said he has a positive outlook for the project, and the work the committee has done so far. "I think there's an opportunity to build on what's been done and keep the momentum going," he said.

Open air burning season closes May 1

The 2014 Open Air Burning Season will close on Thursday, May 1. Residents must obtain a permit to burn during the season, and register their permit number each day they wish to burn when burning is being allowed.

This year the Cohasset Fire Department is using a web-based system for residents to obtain and register their burning permit for the season. Residents can obtain their burning permit at the Town of Cohasset web site: cohasset-mass.org. Once they are on the web site they can click on the burn permit link: [mktix.com/toco/burnpermit] fill out the registration form and submit the $10 fee for the permit via credit card. Once their payment has been received the system will generate a permit number for the resident to use for the entire 2014 Open Air Burning Season. Residents with valid permit numbers wishing to burn during the season will need to check the Town of Cohasset web site www.cohassetmass.org and click on the status link: [mktix.com/toco/status]. This link will say whether burning is being allowed for the day and will allow residents to register their permit number for the day.

AROUND TOWN

More bragging rights for Cohasset students

JENNIFER PIEPENBRINK

Tabor honors

Congratulations to the following Cohasset students, who were named to the Honors List at Tabor Academy for Semester 1 of the 2013-2014 academic year: Mark McKenna, Class of 2014, son of Mr. and Mrs. James McKenna; and Max Willms, Class of 2016, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Willms. Honors are earned by compiling an overall average of 85 or above. Great work, Mark and Max!

BC High

Hats off to the following Cohasset residents, who achieved honors for the second quarter of the 2013-2014 academic year at Boston College High School.

High Honors: Mark Lee Brown, Class of 2014; Zachary James Coggins, Class of 2014; William Tanner Gildea, Class of 2015; Conor Patrick Sheehy, Class of 2015; Adam Joseph Kucinski, Class of 2016; Matthew Hui Paul Montefusco, Class of 2016; Griffin James Gildea, Class of 2017; and Liam Patrick McDonald, Class of 2017.

For High Honors, a sophomore, junior or senior must have at least a 3.80 quality point average and all grades C+ or higher. Freshmen need a 3.6 quality point average and all grades C+ or higher.

Honors: Tucker John Antico, Class of 2015; Charles Krumsiek, Class of 2016; Dylan Marat, Class of 2016; Matthew Paul Doyle, Class of 2017; Noel Ignatius Hart, Class of 2017; David Terence Hillman, Class of 2017; and Jack Wesley Nee, Class of 2017.

For Honors, a sophomore, junior or senior must have at least a 3.20 quality point average and all grades C- or higher. Freshmen need a 3.165 quality point average and all grades C- or higher.

UMass-Boston

The following Cohasset residents were among the 2,900 students from the UMass-Boston who made the 2013 fall dean's list: Letra Kimla and Blair Piper. Great news!

Colby College

Charles D. Coffman, a junior at Colby College in Waterville, Maine, was named to the dean's list for his outstanding academic achievement during the fall semester of the 2013-14 year. Charles is the son of Earle and Denise Coffman of Cohasset, and attended Boston College High School. Students whose grade point averages were 3.68 or higher were named to the dean's list. Congratulations!

St. Lawrence

Natalie G. Dignam of Cohasset has been selected for inclusion on the dean's list for academic achievement during the fall 2013 semester at St. Lawrence University. Natalie, a member of the Class of 2015, is majoring in English at St. Lawrence. Natalie graduated from Cohasset Jr-Sr High School.

To be eligible for the dean's list, a student must have completed at least four semester units and have an academic average of 3.6 based on a 4.0 scale for the semester.

So thrilled that Natalie is majoring in English! She is a past Life at CHS columnist.

Saint Michael's

Gregory R. Browne, son of David and Lisa Browne of Cohasset was named to the dean's list for the fall 2013 semester at Saint Michael's College. Browne is a first-year exploratory major at the liberal arts and sciences, residential Catholic college located in Burlington, Vt., one of the top 10 college towns in America.

Students who complete a minimum of 12 credits and achieve a grade point average of at least 3.4 at the end of a semester are recognized for their scholarship by inclusion on the dean's list.

Browne graduated from Deerfield Academy before coming to Saint Michael's.

Plymouth State

Andrew Smith of Cohasset, has been named to the Plymouth State University president's list for the fall 2013 semester.

To be named to the president's list, a student must achieve a grade point average of 3.7 or better for the fall semester and must have attempted at least 12 credit hours during the semester. These credit hours must be in courses that earn grade points and the student must have completed all such courses attempted.

That is the news for this week Cohasset. Send in all your news, photos and celebration info to me no later than Tuesdays by 5 pm.

Just an FYI. We receive dean's list and honors notices from many colleges and private schools, but not all. If your son or daughter has earned recognition, please share that news directly with us! We also LOVE new baby announcements with photos if possible. Need birth date, weight, length, names of siblings, parents and grandparents. Emailed photos are fine but glossies can be dropped off at Tedeschi's in the village in our Mariner drop box.

LIFE AT CHS

MATTHEW MACCORMACK

If every Wednesday at CHS is "Hump Day," this entire five-day period must be labeled "Hump Week." Usually, I am not one for complaining, but from my opinion and what I have gathered from some classmates, this was just "one of those weeks."

We are so close to April Vacation so everyone is ready to relax, but the school workload seemed to experience a feverish uptick (even greater than last week's). Additionally, as the deadline to commit to colleges on May 1, approaches, students must start to take a deeper look at where they want to spend the next quartet of years. Overall, for me, personally, this has been the most difficult week of the year.

But then again, what do I have to complain about? This Sunday, I, alongside several CHS administrators and a cluster of Cohasset students, will embark on a trip that actually gives meaning to the clichéd "once in a lifetime." Through EF Tours, Mr. Willis and a crew of CHS teachers will lead us forty-or-so students on an excursion to Europe. As promised in my previous article, I will give you a brief outline of the activities of this fantastic trip.

Our tour begins in the beautiful Istanbul, Turkey, where we will experience the wondrous aspects of Turkish architecture, including the Hagia Sophia, Blue Mosque and Grand Bazaar. We then continue on a cruise through the Greek isles, experiencing the beauty of the Mediterranean, before coming to Athens on the trip's ninth day. After touring this ancient city, we will part for the great land of Italy, where our tour of Europe will run through Pompeii and Rome before finally coming to a close.

All told, we will travel for thirteen days. For students such as myself whom have never been out of the country, I feel extremely blessed to go to Cohasset and have the opportunity to participate in what hopes to be a fantastic trip. Upon my return, I plan to write a more detailed piece on the entire experience, so please keep your eyes peeled in The Mariner!

As stated last week, due to the trip I will not produce columns in the next two issues, and I will certainly miss you all. However, you must understand that opportunities such as this one do not unfold every year. Thank you all for reading thus far, and I hope you have a fantastic next two weeks. Oh yeah, and keep it classy Cohasset!

Matthew McCormack is a senior at CHS and a regular contributor to the Cohasset Mariner.

SCITUATE ANIMAL SHELTER

Rabies clinic offered April 26

Scituate Animal Control, in cooperation with Scituate Animal Shelter, will conduct the annual rabies clinic at Scituate Animal Shelter from 9 a.m. to noon, on Saturday, April 26. Services will be provided by Black Pond Veterinary Clinic of Norwell. Rabies shots at a cost of $15 per animal, and distemper shots for $20 each, will be offered. Cats will be seen from 9 to 10:30 a.m., and dogs from 10:30 a.m. to noon. All dogs must be on leashes, and cats in carriers.

The shelter is at 780 Chief Justice Cushing Hwy., Scituate. For more information, email the Animal Control Officer at kstewart@scituatepolice.org or call 781-545-8709.

Scituate Animal Shelter yard sale this weekend

Scituate Animal Shelter's annual yard sale will take place from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., on Saturday, April 12, and Sunday, April 13, at the Knights of Columbus Hall on Route 3A in Scituate. The sale will take place rain or shine.

A giant indoor/outdoor event, this is probably the South Shore's largest, and offers bargains on items such as antiques and collectibles, holiday decorations, kitchenware, toys, jewelry, small furniture, linens and artwork. People have been generous this year, and a variety of items from which to choose are available. A $1 donation is suggested.

4 THINGS TO DO THIS WEEK

There's plenty to do in and around Cohasset

1. Alastair Moock: The Sunday Series at First Parish Church at 3 p.m., Sunday, April 13 will welcome award-winning singer Alastair Moock. He will present a concert called Shake Your Roots: A Family Concert that is specially aimed at kids ages 2-10. Admission will be $15 for adults and $12 for seniors and children. Children under 12 are free. For more information about the concert, call Allegra Martin at 617-872-0461. Tickets will only be sold at the door, not in advance.

2. CEF Spring Gala: The Cohasset Education Foundation annual Spring Gala is (tonight) Friday, April 11 at Atlantica. This year's "Spring Fever" theme will celebrate the beginning of the season of fun, festivity and warmer temperatures. Throughout the year, the CEF raises funds to promote excellence in the Cohasset public schools. Grant ideas are generated by teachers and administration and benefit students of all grade levels. Tickets start at $75 and include a signature drink and light fare. For more information or to purchase tickets: cohasseteducation.org

3. Yard sale: Scituate Animal Shelter's annual yard sale will take place from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., on Saturday, April 12, and Sunday, April 13, at the Knights of Columbus Hall on Route 3A in Scituate. For more information, call the shelter at 781-544-4533, or visit: scituateanimalshelter.org

4. Natural Egg Dying: April 12, 10 a.m. to noon., at Holly Hill Farm, 236 Jerusalem Road. Take in the colors of spring and let one's creative instincts soar with natural dyes from the farm. Cost is $12 for members, $15 non-members. For more information, call 781-383-6565, visit: hollyhillfarm.org or email jbelberhollyhill@hotmail.com.

GIMME SHELTER

Sweet Ava will make a fabulous companion

PAULA J. FATERSIK

What a pretty girl! Sweet, friendly, with a mix of coquettish and playful behavior, yet serene and reserved at times, this is Ava. Losing her home was unfortunate, and being in the shelter with strange cats has been a bit overwhelming but Ava is showing us that she is an absolutely wonderful girl.

This year and half old tuxedo feline has soft, dense fur and the longest white whiskers ever. Her little smile is adorable and when she finds her forever family, it will be even sweeter. And those striking green eyes, well, you can see how gorgeous they are. Being friendly comes easily to Ava and when she gets to be the focus of her new owner's attention, she will relax and be a fabulous companion and family member.

Ava loves affection and petting but it doesn't stop there. She has a ball playing with wand toys and ping pong balls. And then, when the laser toy comes out, she is right there trying to catch the ever elusive red dot. With the best match, she will be one happy little girl.

Please call Judy at 781-534-4902 for more information on Ava. She is such a sweet girl and is so ready for a loving and cozy forever home.

Morning Open Hours have been added on Thursdays from 11 a.m. to noon. If this fits your schedule please come by. Our standard open hours are Monday evenings from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. and Saturdays from 2 to 3 p.m. We are located at 50 L St. in Hull.

You can see more of our wonderful adult cats and kittens who are waiting for their best match and home by visiting www.HSAR.org and clicking on Available Pets. On Petfinder.com you will see more photos and information. Just enter our zip code, 02045. Our Momma cat Heidi and her seven kittens were just featured last weekend and all of the babies are already on hold. There will be more coming so please check often and take a look at the rest of our cats-in-waiting. They too need love and support in special forever homes.

Please check our Facebook page as well for updates and photos. We love the follow-up from our adopters and it is great to see the cats and kittens settled in their new homes.

The next Spay Waggin' date is Tuesday, April 22. The Animal Rescue League vets will be here to spay and neuter kittens and cats who in need of this service. It is so important to have your pets altered so that we are not losing precious little ones to wild creatures and poor conditions. Living outside in a colony is not healthy for any kitten or cat. If you, or anyone you know needs to have their four-pawed family member altered, call Casey at 781-925-3121 to make arrangements.

It was fabulous to see so many of our supporters at the Ninety-99-Nine in Hingham last week! We are

CEF Spring Gala set for April 11 at Atlantica

The Cohasset Education Foundation (CEF) is gearing up for the annual Spring Gala on Friday, April 11 at Cohasset's own Atlantica Restaurant. This year's "Spring Fever" theme will celebrate the end of a beastly winter and the beginning of the season of fun, festivity and warmer temperatures.

Throughout the year, the CEF raises funds to promote excellence in the Cohasset public schools. Monies are used to fund grants ranging from a Lego Robotics program to a visiting author series. Grant ideas are generated by teachers and administration and benefit students of all grade levels. Funding for grants comes from the generosity of families, local business and corporate matching gift programs.

The Spring Fever event promises to be a fun and entertaining evening. With luck, the weather will cooperate, but even without the sun, the venue will provide a beautiful waterside setting for spring cocktails, light fare and live music. Students will be contributing to the event in many ways. Local guitar teacher and musician Jim Armstrong will be performing with high school students, and later with his band the "New City Cowboys." In addition, this year's silent auction will feature a number of items donated by students, parents and local community members. CEF Events Chair, Katie Norton said, "we've really tried to stress a service-orientation in our auction this year. Many of our auction items are 'priceless services' donated by our talented students and parents."

Ticket prices start at $75 and include a signature drink and light fare. For more information or to purchase tickets, please visit www.cohasseteducation.org

COHASSET ELDER AFFAIRS

Sit to Get Fit on Thursday mornings

The following programs will take place at 3 North Main St. Call Cohasset Elder Affairs at 781-383-9112 if interested in attending either of these presentations.

Sit to Get Fit program — Cohasset Elder Affairs is now offering Sit to Get Fit from 10 to 11 a.m., on Thursdays. This program works for many levels of fitness. An exercise physiologist instructs the program to help people reach individual goals. Improve upper and lower body strength, flexibility and coordination from the comfort of a chair. Cost is $5.

Brown Bag Lunch and Movie — April 14, noon, at 3 North Main St. This month's feature will be "The Bucket List" starring Jack Nicholson and Morgan Freeman. Two terminally ill men burst out of the hospital with a plan to experience life to the fullest before they kick the bucket. Bring a brown bag lunch and Cohasset Elder Affairs will provide soft drinks and popcorn.

Garden Club presentation — April 17, 1:30 p.m. Members of Cohasset Garden Club will offer gardening techniques and help attendees make their own arrangement. Cost is $3. Sign up no later than Monday, April 14.

Intergenerational Lunch — April 17, 11:45 a.m. Members of a Deer Hill School fourth grade class will join seniors for lunch and an activity. Suggested donation is $3.

Volunteer Recognition Luncheon — April 24, noon, at Atlantica. Response must be received by Cohasset Elder Affairs by April 17. Responses after that point cannot be honored. Call 781-383-9112 or email Rgibbons@cohassetma.org

*To get the fixed introductory APR (Annual Percentage Rate) shown, you must take a minimum $20,000 draw on the line at closing. If a minimum $20,000 draw is not taken at closing, a rate of 2.49% APR will apply. The introductory rate will be in effect for the first 18 billing cycles after the line is opened. Thereafter, the rate, including the rate on any existing account balance, will convert to a variable rate APR based on the Wall Street Journal "Prime Rate" published on the last day of the billing cycle (3.25% as of 03/31/14). Maximum APR is 18%. All APRs shown assume a maximum combined loan-to-value ratio of 75%. Valid for 1-4 family owner occupied properties or single family second homes. Subject to credit approval. Limited time offer may be withdrawn at anytime. Rates subject to change without notice. <sup>2</sup>Trust review fees may apply when applicable. Reimbursement of fees totalling $300 if line is paid in full and discharged within 36 months of closing. Property insurance required. Flood insurance may be required. Other terms and conditions may apply. Consult your tax advisor regarding deductibility of interest. Membership eligibility requirements apply. If you are not a member of Crescent Credit Union, and you live or work in Suffolk, Plymouth, Bristol, Norfolk, Barnstable, Dukes and Nantucket counties, as well as certain cities and towns in Middlesex and Worcester counties (see www.crescentcredit.org for details), a $5 deposit to a Crescent Credit Union savings account will establish membership.

Legal Briefs

by Kevin Phillips
Attorney at Law

AN UNDENIABLE FACT

While we may try to avoid the unpleasant truth that death spares no one, it is best to be prepared for the inevitable. Yet, according to one recent survey, two-thirds of Americans have no will. While some circumstances may lend themselves to wills written by computer programs, an attorney can point out details and pose scenarios that the average person might not consider. Taking these factors into account helps to clarify a person's intentions, thereby ensuring the desired outcome. With this in mind, the more complex a person's circumstances, the more he or she stands to benefit from having a lawyer draw up his or her will. Blended families, ex-spouses, and other special conditions warrant professional advice.

An attorney who regularly practices in the fields of wills, trusts and estate planning will provide you with sound legal advice and ensure that your will is complete and legally valid. For further information, call (781) 834-4500. Located at 769 Plain Street we invite you to email us at phillips59@aol.com or visit us online at www.attorneykevinphillips.com

HINT: If your estate is worth more than the $5 million federal exemption pertaining to gifts that you may give to others upon your death, you should discuss estate planning with an attorney.

OUR VIEW

Cracking down on distracted drivers

Massachusetts state and local police departments will voluntarily join a nationwide high-visibility enforcement blitz in a concerted effort to raise awareness about the dangers of distracted driving. Law enforcement personnel across the United States will be cracking down on motorists who text and drive April 10-15.

Types of distractions include: texting, using a cellphone, eating and drinking, grooming, reading, using a navigation system, watching a video and adjusting a radio, CD or other audio players. Text messaging is by far the most dangerous activity because it diverts the driver's visual, manual and cognitive attention away from the road.

According to the latest data from the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA), nationwide in 2012, more than 3,328 people were killed in crashes involving distracted drivers, and approximately 421,000 people were injured.

Massachusetts law makes it illegal for any operator of a motor vehicle to use a mobile telephone, or any handheld device capable of accessing the internet, to manually compose, send or read an electronic message while operating a motor vehicle. Fines start at $100 and can be as high as $500 for subsequent offenses. Drivers under the age of eighteen are also subject to license or permit suspension for up to one year.

"All motorists need to know that Massachusetts is serious about stopping this deadly behavior. Driving and texting has reached epidemic levels, and enforcing the law is part of the cure," said Massachusetts State Police Superintendent, Colonel Timothy Alben.

RALLY AGAINST CANCER

Cohasset town employees raise more than $500 for the Jimmy Fund

Cohasset town employees celebrated Opening Day for the Red Sox by participating in the Rally Against Cancer sponsored by the Jimmy Fund. For a $5 donation employees could wear their favorite Red Sox garb to work on Friday, April 4, as part of team Cohasset Cares. Not only did the team exceed their goal of $500, but they enjoyed showing their pride in the 2013 World Champions.

The donations will help Dana-Farber Institute and the Jimmy Fund in their research and treatment for children's cancer.

COMMENTARY

Commissioners detail Town Meeting requests

Board of Sewer Commissioners

On Monday, April 28, 2014, at annual Town Meeting, all residents will be asked to consider three articles sponsored by the Board of Sewer Commissioners. Before doing so, we would like to provide a brief explanation of these articles, and place them within the context from which each originate.

Article 19: This article seeks approval to appropriate approximately $9,000 from the Sewer Enterprise Fund for work performed prior to June 30, 2013. As in prior years we anticipate an operating surplus sufficient to pay this invoice. Our certified retained earnings balance is $407,261. It is an unfortunate circumstance in business that sometimes invoices for services rendered are not received by the close of the fiscal calendar.

Article 20: During fall 2012, Town Council approached Town Manager with a recommendation that the town commission a study to determine potential future use of existing sewer capacity in anticipation of the Judgment placed by the Commonwealth being rescinded within the coming year. Town Manager working with the Board of Sewer Commissioners prepared Article 11 requesting authorization to spend up to $50,000 from the Sewer Enterprise Fund on such a study, which was approved at 2012

Special Town Meeting.

Subsequently, the board and other town officials have been working to satisfy the terms of the judgment and the completion of final connections to private residences. Now that the project has been substantially completed, and there are no more legal imperatives for further connections to the system, it is prudent to evaluate options for utilization of existing sewer system capacity and to develop an overall plan to serve as a roadmap for the future. The board's bylaws stipulate that the preparation of studies be made from time to time, and the Massachusetts Department of Environmental Protection (MADEP) encourages all municipalities to have an approved Comprehensive Wastewater Master Plan (CWMP) with a 20-year view in place. The most current plan approved by MADEP was prepared in 1997, and updated in 2006.

The MADEP has published a Guideline for Wastewater Planning (Guidelines) to serve as a recommended minimum framework for the preparation of a CWMP. The board has retained an environmental consulting company to prepare a Request for Proposal (RFP) for environmental engineering services to prepare an amendment to the existing CWMP based on the MADEP Guidelines.

What might we do with existing capacity is the question to be answered by the study.

The MADEP Guidelines recommend an open and objective approach to the preparation of a study to capture a broad view of possible options through public engagement. What should be done, if anything, from the list of options produced from the study is a question to be answered by Town Meeting. Per town bylaws, the Board of Sewer Commissioners serves as the steward in the operation of town assets while Town Meeting has sole authority to expand the collection and processing system.

Potential expansion of the sewer system beyond the existing districts is a town-wide issue, so the cost to prepare a study to consider expansion should be borne by the entire town, not just the current sewer ratepayers (currently 1,552 accounts or approximately 50 percent of all residents) as previously approved by Town Meeting. The board believes the original Article 11 approved Dec. 10, 2012 was in error in this regard, and this new article to seek authorization to spend not more than $100,000 from the General Fund.

Article 21: Town Counsel recently approached Town Manager with a recommendation that a map defining existing sewer districts be approved by Town Meeting to complete the initiative started under Article 12: Home Rule Petition to Create Sewer Districts (Home Rule Petition) adopted by 2013 annual Town Meeting and subsequently the Commonwealth of Massachusetts amending the 1965 enabling act of the Board of Sewer Commissioners.

The creation of the original municipal sewer collection system and each subsequent expansion of the sewer district were approved by multiple Town Meetings and state agencies. The recently adopted Home Rule Petition reiterates distinctly the authority for the establishment of sewer districts lies solely with Town Meeting to be thereafter administered by the Board. Unfortunately, the current delineation of sewer districts is diagrammatic in nature, so the Board proposes the adoption of a district map indicating individual property boundaries to eliminate any potential for confusion or misinterpretation. This map would also be incorporated into the town's geographic information system (GIS) presently under development.

The Board of Sewer Commissioners invites the public to attend a workshop at 7 p.m., on Wednesday, April 16, in the CMHS library to learn more about the study and districts map prior to annual Town Meeting. The proposed districts map will also be available for viewing at the Town Clerk's office as of Thursday, April 17, and will also be available on the town website.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Myopic leadership

The ground has been broken for a gold plated Elder Affairs Center. A proposed renovation of Town Hall is estimated to cost $11,000,000! Included in the latter proposal is tear-down of the 27-year-old addition to the Town Hall. All this while myopic elected officials have waged petty battles with one another. The aforementioned costs approximate the relatively recent construction cost of the new Osgood School and major renovations to the Deer Hill and CMHS! Historically, Cohasset elected officials grossly mismanage real property. Schools have not been maintained. The Lightkeepers, Sailing Club, Swim Center, historic Paul Pratt Library (PPL), and the Osgood School (now the PPL) are all cost-effective non-profits. The Elder Affairs Center should have been relocated to the historic Town Hall (built:

1857). Let us salvage what we can: a) tear down the Town Hall annex, b) renovate the Old Town Hall as a dance hall, and c) construct the Town Hall on or near Route 3A.

Volunteers needed for 2014 Relay For Life

Relay For Life is currently in the process of planning the 2014 Relay For Life event and is in need of planning committee members and volunteers. There are a variety of ways to help out, from organizing the event, to starting a team with family and friends, to becoming a corporate sponsor. Contact the local American Cancer Society representative, Rebecca Ybarra, for more information at Rebecca.Ybarra@cancer.org or call 508-897-4343.

The 18th annual Relay For Life of Cohasset/Hingham/Hull/Scituate will take place this year at Cohasset High School, tentatively on Saturday, June 21 through Sunday, June 22. Those who would like to join the Relay For Life of Cohas-set/Hingham/Hull/Scituate as a volunteer or team participant can call the American Cancer Society at 508-897-4343, or visit RelayForLife.org/Cohasset-MA.

CANDIDATES CORNER

Kennedy: campaign events continue

Diane Kennedy continues to hold campaign events throughout the community including an evening at the Focus Gallery and a morning coffee at the village offices of Hoadley-Martinez, architects of the new Sailing Club.

"These events are a great opportunity to update residents on the many initiatives in town and also for me to encourage more engagement in town activities – first and foremost Town Meeting on Monday evening, April 28," said Kennedy. Cohasset citizens will approve the FY15 budget, consider a number of capital and CPC funded projects as well as numerous citizen petitions at Town Meeting.

For additional information, contact the Committee to Re-elect Diane Kennedy at kennedy4cohasset@gmail.com.

Kennedy is a candidate for the Cohasset Board of Selectmen. Voters will choose between three candidates for two seats.

Koed addresses Town Hall issue

"It's like taking a keystone out of a keystone arch," said Fred Koed when asked about the possibility of demolishing Cohasset's historic Town Hall. "Cohasset is the quintessential New England Village; if we lose our Town Hall we lose touch with our history."

"Town Hall is a place where our ancestors voted and held town meeting. It's an integral part of Cohasset's History and Historic District and I would not support any plan that included the destruction of one of our most important buildings," said Koed.

"The Town Hall Restoration and Renovation Committee has looked at a lot of options for improving the functionality of Town office space and I support their decision to renovate, rather than demolish, Old Town Hall," said Koed. "The second floor isn't ADA compliant but we can use the upstairs space for storage and there is currently access via elevator."

Koed said "there is no question we need to address the condition of New Town Hall along with office and meeting space issues; the Committee has done a good job of looking at the options and I'm glad tearing down Old Town Hall isn't one of them."

Koed is a candidate for the Cohasset Board of Selectmen. Voters will choose between three candidates for two seats.

McCarthy: experience will benefit Cohasset

During my 19 years as an executive at Dunkin' Donuts, Inc. I worked in a very diverse business environment. A franchise system consists of independent business owners who come together under a brand name where they work separately but with the goal of developing one unified system. Success in a franchise environment requires listening to varied independent voices and then molding cooperative action toward the development of one brand.

Cohasset is largely governed by many committees and boards which are both independent but also focused on the best interests of Cohasset as a whole – much like the many independent entities and committees which provide good governance at Dunkin' Donuts. My experience at Dunkin' has prepared me to follow-through on my campaign motto: "Many Voices. One Town." I know well how to unite diverse interests – in fact I wrote the mission statement used for many years to manage the entire franchisee operating division of Dunkin' Donuts.

For more information about my candidacy and how to volunteer and donate, visit my website at kevinmccarthy4cohasset.com.

McCarthy is a candidate for the Cohasset Board of Selectmen. Voters will choose between three candidates for two seats.

GROWING ON THE FARM

Time to tidy up after long winter

JON BELBER

In advance of the annual Ship Shape Day in Scituate, which is also coordinated with Marshfield's Clean Up Day, it is a good time to wake from the long winter's nap and assess what has been blown around.

Why do we need a ship shape day anyway? Setting aside a day for picking up trash seems to make it okay for others to let trash flow for another 364 days, since some kind, energetic, civic minded neighbor will collect it all anyway.

Why can't folks just find a receptacle for the bottles and cans? Why can't boaters tuck away their trash and hold onto their mesh traps during the recreation season, and during the year round fishing industry?

Walkers, joggers and runners I know already scoop up the omniscient water bottle, plastic nip and rescue the free flying plastic bags that perch on the bare winter branches. (I see why some towns in Massachusetts have banned plastic bags all together considering their ambition to fly, so we can all carry a sturdy reusable, with a green message, denim bag).

But Ship Shape Day is a rite of spring I suppose, and a little earlier this year, coming a few weeks after the St. Patrick's Day Parade, which encourages the tossing of trash (disguised as candy) at bystanders, along with the acceptance of dispersing various bottles, which were publicly consumed.

Shaping up a town or open space is essential for any community. One version of ship shape day sees upwards of 100 people or more gathering green bags from the Beautification Commission in an effort to collect trash, pick up bottles strewn from the back of trucks, fighting brambles to get cans out from under the autumn leaves and removing debris floating in from the sea and resting on the beach.

Another version of ship shape occurs in a conservation commission area diagonal from the police station. There, at William Teak Sherman Park, named for this kind steward of the environment, I report another effort to beautify a part of the town. No plastic bags are needed and many giving hands seem to make the work lighter. At Teak, as it is called, more than 30 people gathered this recent sunny Sunday to cut away fallen limbs, unearth 5-year-old compost, replace a fence post, cut back briars, rake away the weeds, turn the soil, stack wood, clean the shed, bring out the table and benches and even sow a few hardy pea seeds. Teak is a community farm garden with about 30, 10 X 10-foot plots, where each gardener is asked to donate a portion of their organically grown produce to the Scituate food pantry. Inexpensive, locally grown, organic produce can help those who do not make it to Whole Foods. Here, as in any backyard, someone growing with sustainable, healthy means can have access to good food.

On this recent day, it was plot holders and friends from the Unitarian church giving of their time and standing, crouching and reaching behind a church principal of caring for the environment. Yes, many of these tree huggers thought it beneficial to kindly donate at Teak, in lieu of sitting in service.

This spring awakening, not quite an uprising, also drew folks from Hull to see the effort as they are trying to start their own community garden. I also know of folks working at "God's Garden" in Pembroke with a similar mission of growing fresh, organic food for that town's food pantry – different church, same sermon.

There will always be trash to collect, bags to reuse, bottles to recycle and compost happening so as to enrich a growing space and shape a more perfect tomato. Giving attention to any of these tasks keeps our community together and clean, while not giving up the ship.

House passes legislation to increase aid for families of public safety employees killed in line of duty

Will retroactively apply to the families of Lieutenant Walsh, Firefighter Kennedy, and Police Officer Maloney.

Rep. Garrett Bradley joined his colleagues in the Massachusetts House of Representatives on Wednesday, April 2, to pass legislation that increases the benefits for families of public safety employees killed in the line of duty from $100,000 to $150,000.

"These are the heroes who protect our neighborhoods and communities every day," Bradley said. "Our families are kept safe because of the dedication of individuals like Ed Walsh, Michael Kennedy and Greg Maloney. I thank the Speaker and my colleagues in the House for coming together as a body and passing this unanimously."

This change represents the first increase in the benefit since 1994. It will retroactively apply to the families of Lieutenant Edward Walsh and Firefighter Michael Kennedy who were killed while fighting a fire on Beacon Street, and Plymouth Police Officer Gregg Maloney who was killed in the line of duty on April 1, 2014. These funds are included in a supplemental budget.

"Every day, I am awed and grateful for the sacrifices firefighters, police and their families make for us," House

Speaker Robert A. DeLeo said. "As we pray for those who perished, their families and the first responders they served with, we must ensure the families of these courageous individuals receive the support they so rightly deserve. I'm proud we were able to pass this increase and pledge to honor their memory through our work on Beacon Hill."

The legislation passed the House 146-0.

AN ARTISTIC DISCOVERY

Lynch opens 2014 Congressional Art Competition for district high school students

Congressman Stephen F. Lynch has announced the opening of "An Artistic Discovery," the 2014 Annual Congressional Art Competition. This competition is open to all high school students who reside in the 8th Congressional District. The winner will have his or her work displayed in the U.S. Capitol for a full year. Additionally, there will be a reception in Washington, D.C., for all art competition winners and their families to celebrate the opening of the exhibit.

To highlight the talent of art students in the 8th Congressional District, the artwork of all students who enter the competition will be displayed in the Congressman's Boston Office.

The Annual Congressional Art Competition is now open for submissions, and all entries must be received by Thursday, April 24. Entries should be sent to Congressman Lynch's Boston District Office and put to the attention of Araba Adjei-Koranteng. Feel free to contact Congressman Lynch's office at 617-428-2000 or refer to his website, <http://lynch.house.gov/>, for more information on the competition.

"I hope that every high school student with a passion for art takes part in this exciting competition," said Congressman Lynch. "Last year, we had dozens of outstanding entries, and I am proud to have the artwork of last year's winner, Isabelle Xu of Westwood, representing our District in Washington. I look forward to viewing all of this year's submissions and displaying one of them in the U.S. Capitol this summer."

New general manager John Cowden meets with his executive chef Michael Brentana.

INN

hosting weddings.

"It's probably one of the most attractive wedding venues I've seen in New England, and I've been to quite a few," said Cowden, who comes to the inn with 30 years' experience in the hospitality business, including his time as innkeeper at Longfellow's Wayside Inn in Sudbury, GM of the Old Sandwich Golf Club in Plymouth, and Vice President and GM of the Jared Coffin House in Nantucket.

"I've had the good fortune of operating some of New England's most recognized inns," Red Lion's new GM said. He also serves on the Massachusetts Restaurant Association.

While weddings will remain a major focus – "Weddings book a year or two out, and this year promises to be the busiest wedding season yet," said Cowden – the new management team hopes to expand the business to include other functions, such as wine or bourbon dinners, American craft beer and food tastings, private chef dinners and parties, from anniversaries to bridal showers.

"We've got the facilities for it," Cowden shared recently while giving a tour of the inn. "There's no reason we couldn't do it. There's so much potential throughout and so much space not being utilized."

Cowden said that once it's warm enough, the outside patio will come into play, with heat lamps and fans available if guests are cold or hot. Soon coy fish will be swimming in the outdoor pond.

The manager also has high hopes for the basement space known as "The Cave," which has served as a jazz club, comedy club and European disco in the past.

For the inn's 100-seat Brasserie Zapp restaurant, Brentana, who formerly worked with Cowden at the Wayside Inn and spent 10 years prior at the Harvard Faculty Club, is rolling out a new menu befitting a coastal New England town.

"We want to bring food dishes that are regional using local resources," said Cowden. In the past, the menu has been European and Moroccan-inspired; and while the inn will likely always have some French flair (owner Gerd Ordelheide splits his time between Cohasset and France, and Bretana is trained in classic French cuisine), Cowden is all for switching things up – and getting a little more "down home."

"It's a blank slate. There's just so much potential. We're creating multiple events that will bring life to this old inn."

John Cowden, general manager of the Red Lion Inn

"You'll see more seafood on the menu," the manager said. "Lobster rolls and fish and chips that satisfy a bigger group of people who will be able to enjoy those local staples."

"It's a return to what's traditional."

Cowden also promises improved service and a more quality experience. Cowden said he was aware that the inn has had some past issues, particularly with the need for a police presence at wedding ceremonies, but he feels much of the historic problems are "easy fixes."

The GM said that he brings a "professional attitude and good business practices" to his new position, as well as a "community-friendly" approach.

"I'm sensitive to the fact that we are in a commercial district area, but we do have neighbors," said Cowden, comparing the Red Lion's location to Coffin House, which is also situated downtown. "You try to find a balance."

"It's a matter of being on top of the service and products we offer," Cowden said. "It makes it easier if you surround yourself with good people."

With his new team in place, Cowden is set to take the upcoming busy summer season by storm – and to boost the inn's profile well into the future.

"It's about reaching out and becoming an inn for all reasons and seasons."

The Red Lion Inn is located at 71 South Main Street, Cohasset. For more information, call 781-383-1704 or visit online at redlioninn.propoohd.com.

General Manager John Cowden plans to expand the inn's hours of operation and offer lunch and dinner at the restaurant Wednesday through Sunday.

Representative Garrett J. Bradley (D-Hingham) 617-722-2520 Room 479

THE HOUSE AND SENATE. Beacon Hill Roll Call records local senators' votes on one roll call and local representatives' votes on seven roll calls from the week of March 31 - April 4.

BENEFITS FOR FALLEN FIREFIGHTERS AND POLICE OFFICERS (H 4028)

House 149-0, Senate 39-0, approved and sent to Gov. Deval Patrick a bill increasing the benefits for families of public safety employees killed in the line of duty from $100,000 to $150,000. This change applies retroactively to the families of Firefighter Michael Kennedy and Lt. Edward Walsh, who were killed on March 26 while fighting a fire in Boston's Back Bay, and Plymouth Police Officer Gregg Maloney, who died in the line of duty on April 1. Supporters said it is time to increase this benefit, which has not been raised since 1994. They argued this should be approved quickly in honor and memory of these fallen heroes, who made the ultimate sacrifice. (A "Yes" vote is for the bill.)

INCREASE MINIMUM WAGE (H 3988)

House 125-24, approved a bill hiking the current $8 per hour minimum wage by $2.50 over the next three years, beginning on July 1, 2014, to $10.50 per hour. Another provision raises the minimum hourly wage of waiters, waitresses and other tipped employees from $2.63 to $3.75. The measure also makes changes in the state's unemployment insurance system and provides some protections for domestic workers. Supporters said this pro-worker bill would ensure economic justice and help thousands of families that are living near the poverty level despite the fact that the breadwinners work in excess of 40 hours weekly. They argued that a minimum wage hike is one of the best anti-poverty programs available. Opponents said the hike would cost businesses $500 million while they are already faced with skyrocketing health care and energy costs. They noted it would also cost jobs and hurt consumers by forcing companies to raise prices. (A "Yes" vote is for the hike. A "No" vote is against it.)

SMALLER HIKE TO $9.50 PER HOUR (H 3988)

House 27-120, rejected an amendment that would hike the minimum wage to $9.50 per hour over three years. Amendment supporters said this is a more reasonable hike that is fair to both workers and employers. Most amendment opponents said $9.50 will not provide sufficient help to families living near the poverty level despite working 40 or more hours per week.

Two Republican representatives who voted against the hike to $9.50 said they oppose any hike in the minimum wage. (A "Yes" vote is for the hike to $9.50. A "No" vote is against it.)

TERMINATION OF BENEFITS (H 3988)

House 19-131, rejected an amendment that would require workers who receive unemployment benefits to accept any similar job offer from their former company or lose their unemployment benefits. The offer must be for at least a two-month period and must entail a similar skill level and substantially similar hours, wages and distance from their home. Workers are eligible for a hearing on whether the job meets all the requirements. Amendment supporters said this would strongly encourage people to accept these job offers and get off of unemployment. They said there are many cases of workers refusing these positions and noted that current law is not as specific as the amendment. Amendment opponents said current law already provides that a person's unemployment benefits end if he or she refuses to take a job in his or her "usual occupation or any other occupation for which he or she is reasonably fitted." (A "Yes" vote is for the amendment. A "No" vote is against it.)

WAGE VIOLATIONS (H 3988)

House 29-121, rejected an amendment that would repeal a 2008 law which requires employers who are convicted of not paying wages to an employee in a timely fashion to pay him or her triple the amount of money owed. The 2008 law was passed in response to a 2005 court ruling that left the amount of the award to the discretion of the judge. Amendment supporters said that the 2008 law goes too far and takes away all discretion from judges despite the circumstances of the case. They argued that the law should be flexible because employers who make an honest error should not be required to pay triple damages. Amendment opponents defended the 2008 law and argued that triple damages should automatically be awarded in order to discourage employers from holding back wages. (A "Yes" vote is for repealing the law and is against mandating triple damages. A "No" vote is against repeal and favors mandating triple damages.)

Beacon Hill Roll Call urges you to read the next two roll calls carefully and be aware that the studies were proposed in place of the amendment, so a "yes" vote is for the study and essentially is against the amendment. Conversely, a "no" vote is against the study and generally favors the amendment.

INDEFINITELY DELAY ALLOWING LOWER TRAINING WAGES FOR FIRST 90 DAYS (H 3988)

House 119-30, indefinitely delayed an amendment that would allow employers to pay workers 25 percent less than the minimum wage for his or her first 90 days of employment. The delay would require the Patrick administration to study and report back to the Legislature on the impact the training wage would have on the state. Amendment supporters said the minimum wage hike would discourage employers from hiring inexperienced teens under 18 to train for their first jobs. They said the amendment would give businesses more flexibility to hire those teens. Amendment opponents said the reduced training wage is simply unfair and would apply to both teens and adults. They argued that unscrupulous employers might just continue hiring teens under 18 for 90 days, pay them the lower wage and then let them go. (A "Yes" vote is for the study. A "No" vote is against the study.)

INDEFINITELY DELAY EARNED INCOME TAX CREDIT (H 3988)

House 117-31, indefinitely delayed an amendment that would increase over four years the earned income tax credit for low-income working families with children living at home from 15 percent to 25 percent of the federal credit. The credit is applied toward the taxpayer's liability, and if it exceeds the liability, the taxpayer receives the excess credit as a refund. The delay would require the Patrick administration to study and report back to the Legislature on the impact the amendment would have on the state. Amendment supporters said this increased credit will help thousands of low-income working families who are struggling to make ends meet and will result in many of them paying little or no state income tax. Amendment opponents said the increase would cost the state more than $100 million which it cannot afford. (A "Yes" vote is for the study. A "No" vote is against the study.)

ALSO UP ON BEACON HILL

TAX CREDIT FOR HOMEOWNERS (H 2627) - The House gave initial approval, on a voice vote without debate, to a bill making more homeowners eligible for a tax credit equal to the amount by which the taxpayer's real estate tax payment or the rent constituting real estate tax payment on the person's primary residence exceeds 10 per cent of the taxpayer's total income.

The home cannot be assessed at more than $600,000 and the maximum credit is $750. In order to qualify, a taxpayer's total income cannot exceed $40,000 for an individual and $60,000 for a couple. Currently, only taxpayers over 65 are eligible for this tax credit. The bill would repeal the age requirement and make all taxpayers who qualify financially eligible.

SUICIDE PREVENTION TRAINING (H 443) - The Education Committee approved a bill that would require all public school personnel to receive a minimum of two hours of suicide awareness and prevention training annually. Supporters say that suicide is the third leading cause of death among youths between 10 and 19 years old. They note that there are often warning signs that training will help teachers pick up. They argue that suicide is often preventable and that this training will save many lives.

FINANCIAL LITERACY (S 234) - The Education Committee also gave a favorable report to a bill requiring the state to develop and allow cities and towns to institute a program to teach students financial literacy including understanding banking and financial services, loans, interest, credit card debt, online commerce, renting or buying a home, saving, investing and planning for retirement, balancing a checkbook, state and federal taxes and charitable giving.

STATE SENATE

Hedlund running again

By Ed Baker
ebaker@wickedlocal.com

Republican state Sen. Robert Hedlund of Weymouth said restoring weekend train service on the MBTA's Greenbush line on a trial basis and increasing local aid to communities are some of the reasons why he is seeking re-election in November.

"I support a trial startup of the Greenbush on weekends, but if the ridership level is not there it won't lead to a permanent restoration," Hedlund said March 24.

Hedlund has been representing the Plymouth and Norfolk District, which includes Weymouth, Hingham, Hull, Norwell, Marshfield, Scituate, Duxbury and Cohasset, in the state Senate since winning the seat back in 1994. He was first elected to the Legislature in 1990, but lost his seat in 1992 prior to regaining it two years later.

In 2012, Hedlund defeated Democratic opponent Genevieve Davis of Norwell to earn another term. He said he is not aware of any challengers, and state Division of Elections spokesman Brian McNiff said Hedlund is the only candidate who has requested nomination papers.

"The deadline for filing nomination papers is April 29," McNiff said.

Hedlund said a permanent restoration of the Greenbush line on weekends also depends on whether there are enough funds to operate it.

"The MBTA's operational deficit is $160 million," he said.

Hedlund said the number of passengers using Greenbush on the weekend was pitifully low when the trains stopped running on Saturday and Sunday.

"It's a frustrating situation," he said.

Hedlund said the MBTA has pitted the cost of running Greenbush against the operation of the commuter boats, which lost their state subsidies.

"They raised the fares so high on the commuter boats so that they are not subsidized anymore," he said. "They are subsidizing the Greenbush to $25 million a year to run it. When you have a line that needs that subsidy it is hard to advocate for weekend service when there is virtually no riders," he said.

Hedlund said the trial run he supports for weekend Greenbush service would include free parking in T lots, which he said would be an incentive to encourage riders to board Greenbush and discourage passengers from clogging the streets on adjacent streets near commuter rail stations.

"It (parking) is archaic," he said.

Hedlund added he would seek increases in local aid to cities and towns if re-elected.

"The state budget has gone up $5 billion in the last five years, but local aid has been cut by a half-billion," he said. "In general, I want to hold government accountable. I'm outnumbered 36-4 in the Senate and I'm trying to hold the majority party accountable."

About Articles 28 and 29

The following informational summaries describe the two citizens' petitioned articles on the Town Meeting warrant:

Article 28:

"In addition to and consistent with state law, patronage is not a tolerated practice in Cohasset. Members of the Board of Selectmen, their spouses, or partners are prohibited from pressuring, influencing or taking any other action in an effort to secure non-competitive government contracts to friends or relatives or to hire friends or relatives."

The purpose of this article is to provide additional transparency and integrity from our elected leaders before there is a problem by affirmatively stating that patronage is not a tolerated practice in Cohasset. By amending this by-law, Cohasset's Board of Selectmen, would no longer be allowed to participate in acts of patronage. All public jobs should be advertised, open to the general public, and include a transparent selection process absent of political influence.

Article 29:

"In addition to and consistent with state law and to encourage integrity with the public, members of the Board of Selectmen may not participate in any manner involving a party from which said member has accepted any money, gifts, gratuities or any other thing of value in excess of $50.00 in the aggregate, during the candidacy or tenure of said member of the Board.

Any and all monies, gifts, gratuities, campaign contributions, and other items of value shall be disclosed prior to any actions that provide relief to that party by said member of the Board of Selectmen on a form prescribed by the Board.

By amending this by-law, Selectmen would be required to provide additional transparency and publicly disclose all items of value they have individually received from an applicant while in office prior to taking action on applicant's request who will benefit directly from said actions of the Selectmen. This bylaw does not prohibit the Selectmen's ability to vote. It only requires publicly disclosing items of value at their meeting prior to voting. The Board of Selectmen may adopt regulations in response to these by-laws.

things of value" during campaigns, Milanoski explained, saying that currently, "there's no disclosure required when giving someone relief."

Selectman Steve Gaumer said Monday that while he agreed "with the spirit" of the proposed bylaws, he also took issue with the board having "the keys to the hen house."

Gaumer wondered why the petitions focus solely on the selectmen and not other all appointed or elected officials, feeling it was "discriminatory."

Selectmen vice-chairman Diane Kennedy said the matter belonged in an ethics statement, not a bylaw, otherwise "it becomes law that needs to become adjudicated or enforced."

Gifts

Kennedy also took issue with the second petition, explaining that while she is a town official, she also has friends from when she worked at the South Shore Art Center and wondered where to draw the line on gifts. "They got me a birthday present," she shared, "and they came here looking for a liquor license."

Kennedy said that she is "happy to disclose" any gifts or monies she has received, however questioning, "What if your neighbor took you to Bia [Bistro]?"

Koed noted, "You could have a birthday present from someone you've known since first grade," who may also be a business owner in need of a license.

Once again, Gaumer said that he understood "the intent" behind the petition, but felt it is already "covered in a variety of existing statutes."

"Campaign law is deeply scrutinized," Gaumer added.

Look for more on this issue in an upcoming edition of the Mariner.

sues, including the Ethics and Campaign Finance commissions, along with conflict of interest law.

"There have been years of cases and hearings" that have set "all kinds of precedent," said Koed.

The chairman's chief problem with the articles is that selectmen would be in charge of policing themselves.

"The board of selectmen would be the ones administering this and writing regulations," said Koed, adding that he was concerned that this could "open up a bunch of legal costs for the town."

Selectman Karen Quigley agreed with Koed.

"Our feet are already held to the floor" by the various state agencies, she said. "They have processes, procedures and penalties."

Crafting new bylaws, Quigley concluded, is "really unnecessary," encouraging anyone who thinks she has done something wrong to "go for it" and report her. "There are channels to do it."

Lead petitioner Michael Milanoski, Town Administrator of Carver, who worked as Cohasset's Acting Town Manager for nearly two years, took issue with a donation Quigley received from the Red Lion Inn when she was campaigning for her selectmen seat in 2013. Quigley received a $1,000 check but returned it, disclosed the matter and went to the state Ethics Commission.

Milanoski was not present during Monday's selectmen meeting, but presented the articles to the Advisory Committee last week. He said in a phone call that both petitions were crafted in the name of increasing government "transparency and clarity."

The first petition in particular deals with public job openings. Milanoski said that the Advisory board was unclear on the wording and "needed more refinement on the language" and the definition of "patronage."

Milanoski said that the petition asks voters to consider, "Why not provide more transparency, why not advertise all public positions and have people fairly compete for them?"

The second petition deals with "the issue of accepting

hosting weddings.

"It's probably one of the most attractive wedding venues I've seen in New England, and I've been to quite a few," said Cowden, who comes to the inn with 30 years' experience in the hospitality business, including his time as innkeeper at Longfellow's Wayside Inn in Sudbury, GM of the Old Sandwich Golf Club in Plymouth, and Vice President and GM of the Jared Coffin House in Nantucket.

"I've had the good fortune of operating some of New England's most recognized inns," Red Lion's new GM said. He also serves on the Massachusetts Restaurant Association.

While weddings will remain a major focus – "Weddings book a year or two out, and this year promises to be the busiest wedding season yet," said Cowden – the new management team hopes to expand the business to include other functions, such as wine or bourbon dinners, American craft beer and food tastings, private chef dinners and parties, from anniversaries to bridal showers.

"We've got the facilities for it," Cowden shared recently while giving a tour of the inn. "There's no reason we couldn't do it. There's so much potential throughout and so much space not being utilized."

Cowden said that once it's warm enough, the outside patio will come into play, with heat lamps and fans available if guests are cold or hot. Soon coy fish will be swimming in the outdoor pond.

The manager also has high hopes for the basement space known as "The Cave," which has served as a jazz club, comedy club and European disco in the past.

For the inn's 100-seat Brasserie Zapp restaurant, Brentana, who formerly worked with Cowden at the Wayside Inn and spent 10 years prior at the Harvard Faculty Club, is rolling out a new menu befitting a coastal New England town.

"We want to bring food dishes that are regional using local resources," said Cowden. In the past, the menu has been European and Moroccan-inspired; and while the inn will likely always have some French flair (owner Gerd Ordelleide splits his time between Cohasset and France, and Bretana is trained in classic French cuisine), Cowden is all for switching things up – and getting a little more "down home."

"It's a blank slate. There's just so much potential. We're creating multiple events that will bring life to this old inn."

John Cowden, general manager of the Red Lion Inn

"You'll see more seafood on the menu," the manager said. "Lobster rolls and fish and chips that satisfy a bigger group of people who will be able to enjoy those local staples."

"It's a return to what's traditional."

Cowden also promises improved service and a more quality experience. Cowden said he was aware that the inn has had some past issues, particularly with the need for a police presence at wedding ceremonies, but he feels much of the historic problems are "easy fixes."

The GM said that he brings a "professional attitude and good business practices" to his new position, as well as a "community-friendly" approach.

"I'm sensitive to the fact that we are in a commercial district area, but we do have neighbors," said Cowden, comparing the Red Lion's location to Coffin House, which is also situated downtown. "You try to find a balance."

"It's a matter of being on top of the service and products we offer," Cowden said. "It makes it easier if you surround yourself with good people."

With his new team in place, Cowden is set to take the upcoming busy summer season by storm – and to boost the inn's profile well into the future.

"It's about reaching out and becoming an inn for all reasons and seasons."

The Red Lion Inn is located at 71 South Main Street, Cohasset. For more information, call 781-383-1704 or visit online at redlioninn.propoohd.com.

General Manager John Cowden plans to expand the inn's hours of operation and offer lunch and dinner at the restaurant Wednesday through Sunday.

Report No. 15

March 30-April 3, 2014

Senator Robert L. Hedlund (R-Weymouth) 617-722-1646 Room 313C

Representative Garrett J. Bradley (D-Hingham) 617-722-2520 Room 479

THE HOUSE AND SENATE. Beacon Hill Roll Call records local senators' votes on one roll call and local representatives' votes on seven roll calls from the week of March 31 - April 4.

BENEFITS FOR FALLEN FIREFIGHTERS AND POLICE OFFICERS (H 4023)

House 149-0, Senate 39-0, approved and sent to Gov. Deval Patrick a bill increasing the benefits for families of public safety employees killed in the line of duty from $100,000 to $150,000. This change applies retroactively to the families of Firefighter Michael Kennedy and Lt. Edward Walsh, who were killed on March 26 while fighting a fire in Boston's Back Bay, and Plymouth Police Officer Gregg Maloney, who died in the line of duty on April 1. Supporters said it is time to increase this benefit, which has not been raised since 1994. They argued this should be approved quickly in honor and memory of these fallen heroes, who made the ultimate sacrifice. (A "Yes" vote is for the bill.)

INCREASE MINIMUM WAGE (H 3983)

House 125-24, approved a bill hiking the current $8 per hour minimum wage by $2.50 over the next three years, beginning on July 1, 2014, to $10.50 per hour. Another provision raises the minimum hourly wage of waiters, waitresses and other tipped employees from $2.63 to $3.75. The measure also makes changes in the state's unemployment insurance system and provides some protections for domestic workers. Supporters said this pro-worker bill would ensure economic justice and help thousands of families that are living near the poverty level despite the fact that the breadwinners work in excess of 40 hours weekly. They argued that a minimum wage hike is one of the best anti-poverty programs available. Opponents said the hike would cost businesses $500 million while they are already faced with skyrocketing health care and energy costs. They noted it would also cost jobs and hurt consumers by forcing companies to raise prices. (A "Yes" vote is for the hike. A "No" vote is against it.)

SMALLER HIKE TO $9.50 PER HOUR (H 3983)

House 27-120, rejected an amendment that would hike the minimum wage to $9.50 per hour over three years. Amendment supporters said this is a more reasonable hike that is fair to both workers and employers. Most amendment opponents said $9.50 will not provide sufficient help to families living near the poverty level despite working 40 or more hours per week.

Two Republican representatives who voted against the hike to $9.50 said they oppose any hike in the minimum wage. (A "Yes" vote is for the hike to $9.50. A "No" vote is against it.)

TERMINATION OF BENEFITS (H 3983)

House 19-131, rejected an amendment that would require workers who receive unemployment benefits to accept any similar job offer from their former company or lose their unemployment benefits. The offer must be for at least a two-month period and must entail a similar skill level and substantially similar hours, wages and distance from their home. Workers are eligible for a hearing on whether the job meets all the requirements. Amendment supporters said this would strongly encourage people to accept these job offers and get off of unemployment. They said there are many cases of workers refusing these positions and noted that current law is not as specific as the amendment. Amendment opponents said current law already provides that a person's unemployment benefits end if he or she refuses to take a job in his or her "usual occupation or any other occupation for which he or she is reasonably fitted." (A "Yes" vote is for the amendment. A "No" vote is against it.)

WAGE VIOLATIONS (H 3983)

House 29-121, rejected an amendment that would repeal a 2008 law which requires employers who are convicted of not paying wages to an employee in a timely fashion to pay him or her triple the amount of money owed. The 2008 law was passed in response to a 2005 court ruling that left the amount of the award to the discretion of the judge. Amendment supporters said that the 2008 law goes too far and takes away all discretion from judges despite the circumstances of the case. They argued that the law should be flexible because employers who make an honest error should not be required to pay triple damages. Amendment opponents defended the 2008 law and argued that triple damages should automatically be awarded in order to discourage employers from holding back wages. (A "Yes" vote is for repealing the law and is against mandating triple damages. A "No" vote is against repeal and favors mandating triple damages.)

Beacon Hill Roll Call urges you to read the next two roll calls carefully and be aware that the studies were proposed in place of the amendment, so a "yes" vote is for the study and essentially is against the amendment. Conversely, a "no" vote is against the study and generally favors the amendment.

INDEFINITELY DELAY ALLOWING LOWER TRAINING WAGES FOR FIRST 90 DAYS (H 3983)

House 119-30, indefinitely delayed an amendment that would allow employers to pay workers 25 percent less than the minimum wage for his or her first 90 days of employment. The delay would require the Patrick administration to study and report back to the Legislature on the impact the training wage would have on the state. Amendment supporters said the minimum wage hike would discourage employers from hiring inexperienced teens under 18 to train for their first jobs. They said the amendment would give businesses more flexibility to hire those teens. Amendment opponents said the reduced training wage is simply unfair and would apply to both teens and adults. They argued that unscrupulous employers might just continue hiring teens under 18 for 90 days, pay them the lower wage and then let them go. (A "Yes" vote is for the study. A "No" vote is against the study.)

INDEFINITELY DELAY EARNED INCOME TAX CREDIT (H 3983)

House 117-31, indefinitely delayed an amendment that would increase over four years the earned income tax credit for low-income working families with children living at home from 15 percent to 25 percent of the federal credit. The credit is applied toward the taxpayer's liability, and if it exceeds the liability, the taxpayer receives the excess credit as a refund. The delay would require the Patrick administration to study and report back to the Legislature on the impact the amendment would have on the state. Amendment supporters said this increased credit will help thousands of low-income working families who are struggling to make ends meet and will result in many of them paying little or no state income tax. Amendment opponents said the increase would cost the state more than $100 million which it cannot afford. (A "Yes" vote is for the study. A "No" vote is against the study.)

ALSO UP ON BEACON HILL

TAX CREDIT FOR HOMEOWNERS (H 2627) - The House gave initial approval, on a voice vote without debate, to a bill making more homeowners eligible for a tax credit equal to the amount by which the taxpayer's real estate tax payment or the rent constituting real estate tax payment on the person's primary residence exceeds 10 percent of the taxpayer's total income.

The home cannot be assessed at more than $600,000 and the maximum credit is $750. In order to qualify, a taxpayer's total income cannot exceed $40,000 for an individual and $60,000 for a couple. Currently, only taxpayers over 65 are eligible for this tax credit. The bill would repeal the age requirement and make all taxpayers who qualify financially eligible.

SUICIDE PREVENTION TRAINING (H 443) - The Education Committee approved a bill that would require all public school personnel to receive a minimum of two hours of suicide awareness and prevention training annually. Supporters say that suicide is the third leading cause of death among youths between 10 and 19 years old. They note that there are often warning signs that training will help teachers pick up. They argue that suicide is often preventable and that this training will save many lives.

FINANCIAL LITERACY (S 234) - The Education Committee also gave a favorable report to a bill requiring the state to develop and allow cities and towns to institute a program to teach students financial literacy including understanding banking and financial services, loans, interest, credit card debt, online commerce, renting or buying a home, saving, investing and planning for retirement, balancing a checkbook, state and federal taxes and charitable giving.

STATE SENATE

Hedlund running again

By Ed Baker
ebaker@wickedlocal.com

Republican state Sen. Robert Hedlund of Weymouth said restoring weekend train service on the MBTA's Greenbush line on a trial basis and increasing local aid to communities are some of the reasons why he is seeking re-election in November.

"I support a trial startup of the Greenbush on weekends, but if the ridership level is not there it won't lead to a permanent restoration," Hedlund said March 24.

Hedlund has been representing the Plymouth and Norfolk District, which includes Weymouth, Hingham, Hull, Norwell, Marshfield, Scituate, Duxbury and Cohasset, in the state Senate since winning the seat back in 1994. He was first elected to the Legislature in 1990, but lost his seat in 1992 prior to regaining it two years later.

In 2012, Hedlund defeated Democratic opponent Genevieve Davis of Norwell to earn another term. He said he is not aware of any challengers, and state Division of Elections spokesman Brian McNiff said Hedlund is the only candidate who has requested nomination papers.

"The deadline for filing nomination papers is April 29," McNiff said.

Hedlund said a permanent restoration of the Greenbush line on weekends also depends on whether there are enough funds to operate it.

"The MBTA's operational deficit is $160 million," he said.

Hedlund said the number of passengers using Greenbush on the weekend was pitifully low when the trains stopped running on Saturday and Sunday.

"It's a frustrating situation," he said.

Hedlund said the MBTA has pitted the cost of running Greenbush against the operation of the commuter boats, which lost their state subsidies.

"They raised the fares so high on the commuter boats so that they are not subsidized anymore," he said. "They are subsidizing the Greenbush to $25 million a year to run it. When you have a line that needs that subsidy it is hard to advocate for weekend service when there is virtually no riders," he said.

Hedlund said the trial run he supports for weekend Greenbush service would include free parking in T lots, which he said would be an incentive to encourage riders to board Greenbush and discourage passengers from clogging the streets on adjacent streets near commuter rail stations.

"It (parking) is archaic," he said.

Hedlund added he would seek increases in local aid to cities and towns if re-elected.

"The state budget has gone up $5 billion in the last five years, but local aid has been cut by a half-billion," he said. "In general, I want to hold government accountable. I'm outnumbered 36-4 in the Senate and I'm trying to hold the majority party accountable."

About Articles 28 and 29

The following informational summaries describe the two citizens' petitioned articles on the Town Meeting warrant:

Article 28:

"In addition to and consistent with state law, patronage is not a tolerated practice in Cohasset. Members of the Board of Selectmen, their spouses, or partners are prohibited from pressuring, influencing or taking any other action in an effort to secure non-competitive government contracts to friends or relatives or to hire friends or relatives."

The purpose of this article is to provide additional transparency and integrity from our elected leaders before there is a problem by affirmatively stating that patronage is not a tolerated practice in Cohasset. By amending this by-law, Cohasset's Board of Selectmen, would no longer be allowed to participate in acts of patronage. All public jobs should be advertised, open to the general public, and include a transparent selection process absent of political influence.

Article 29:

"In addition to and consistent with state law and to encourage integrity with the public, members of the Board of Selectmen may not participate in any manner involving a party from which said member has accepted any money, gifts, gratuities or any other thing of value in excess of $50.00 in the aggregate, during the candidacy or tenure of said member of the Board.

Any and all monies, gifts, gratuities, campaign contributions, and other items of value shall be disclosed prior to any actions that provide relief to that party by said member of the Board of Selectmen on a form prescribed by the Board."

By amending this by-law, Selectmen would be required to provide additional transparency and publicly disclose all items of value they have individually received from an applicant while in office prior to taking action on applicant's request who will benefit directly from said actions of the Selectmen. This bylaw does not prohibit the Selectmen's ability to vote. It only requires publicly disclosing items of value at their meeting prior to voting. The Board of Selectmen may adopt regulations in response to these by-laws.

things of value" during campaigns, Milanoski explained, saying that currently, "there's no disclosure required when giving someone relief."

Selectman Steve Gaumer said Monday that while he agreed "with the spirit" of the proposed bylaws, he also took issue with the board having "the keys to the hen house."

Gaumer wondered why the petitions focus solely on the selectmen and not other all appointed or elected officials, feeling it was "discriminatory."

Selectmen vice-chairman Diane Kennedy said the matter belonged in an ethics statement, not a bylaw, otherwise "it becomes law that needs to become adjudicated or enforced."

Gifts

Kennedy also took issue with the second petition, explaining that while she is a town official, she also has

friends from when she worked at the South Shore Art Center and wondered where to draw the line on gifts. "They got me a birthday present," she shared, "and they came here looking for a liquor license."

Kennedy said that she is "happy to disclose" any gifts or monies she has received, however questioning, "What if your neighbor took you to Bia [Bistro]?"

Koed noted, "You could have a birthday present from someone you've known since first grade," who may also be a business owner in need of a license.

Once again, Gaumer said that he understood "the intent" behind the petition, but felt it is already "covered in a variety of existing statutes."

"Campaign law is deeply scrutinized," Gaumer added.

It didn't take too long for the Cohasset baseball team to rebound from an opening day 3-2 loss to Abington.

In the Skippers' next outing, a home game against non-league rival Scituate, Cohasset jumped out to a 6-0 lead and held on for a 6-3 win, Friday, then beat Carer Monday.

Ryan McKeon pitched well in his first varsity start to get the win against the Sailors. He went five-plus innings in the win.

"He put us in great position," Cohasset coach Pete Afanasiw said of McKeon. "He threw strikes and was very conservative with his pitches. He only threw 65 pitches, and most of them were strikes."

McKeon has an interesting story.

"Last year he came to me and said that he wanted to take a year to focus on club soccer," Afanasiw said. "This year he asked if he could come back. He's doing well."

Cohasset scored three runs in the first on Scituate and led the whole way.

Skippers win championship game rematch

By William Wassersug

The first couple of games have gone well for the Cohasset boys lacrosse team as they try to win their way back to a state championship game.

In the first two games, 11 different players scored goals as the Skippers beat Hamilton-Wenham 14-3 and followed with a 17-5 win over Abington.

"So far we haven't matched up with like competition," Cohasset head coach James Beaudoin said at the time. "That will happen Saturday and Monday."

Saturday and Monday brought some fun lacrosse to Alumni Stadium as Newton North and Dover-Sherborn, the two-time defending State Champion that beat Cohasset 12-10 in the State Championship game last June at Harvard came to town.

The results were somewhat one-sided, with Cohasset rolling to a pair of pretty-much one-sided victories, including a 12-5 win on Monday.

Cohasset followed the Dover-Sherborn victory with an 18-1 win over Rockland to improve to 5-0 in the early part of the season.

In the D-S victory, the Skippers scored seven straight goals after giving a 5-0 lead back to the visitors, who lost for just the first time this season.

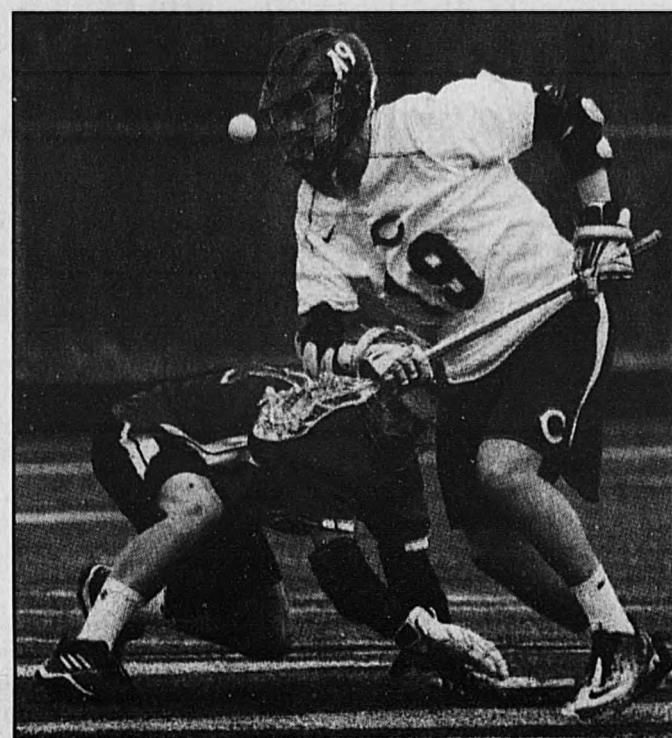

Jeff Powers led the way for Cohasset with five goals. Colin Whelan netted two goals and Danny Axelson chipped in a pair of goals as well.

Will Golden and Adam Benson rounded out the scoring.

Saturday, Cohasset got the job done with an 11-4 win over Newton North.

Eleven seniors are on the roster and most likely will be

The Cohasset High School girl's lacrosse team continued their torrid start with wins over Abington and Pembroke to bring their record to 4-0.

The Skippers went on the road for the first time this season at Abington and overcame terrible field conditions to win 19-3. Freshman Kristi McNary recorded her first career hat trick to lead the scoring followed by Corey Golden (3 goals, 3 assists), Maddie Curley (4 goals, 1 assist) and Mackenzie Axelson (2 goals, 1 assist).

Freshman Marina Longo scored her first varsity goal (2 goals, 1 assist) and Caelin McDonald and Bennett Tierney tallied their first goals of

So far so good for the Cohasset girls tennis team.

Despite having little chance to get on the outdoor courts much before the season, the girls have done extremely well in the early part of the season, sweeping their first four meets of the season.

The team is led by captains Bri Crough and Emma Davis. Davis won the MIAA individual tournament last year and the team as a whole brings lots of experience back to the MIAA Div. 4 South Sectional Tournament defending champion.

Along with Crough and Davis, returners are: Caroline Evans, Cailey Hart, Carly Kinscherf, Gabrielle LeMoine. Juniors: Clara Baumgarten, Molli Browne, Meredith Corry, Emma Davis, Cassandra Lieberman, Emily Livingstone.

That doesn't say it all, considering the turnout overall.

"We have 26 players this year and a manager," coach Gigi Meehan said. "There are 14 returning players and 12 new. We also have a new assistant coach working with me and Deb Beal, her name is Chere Marrese and she is from Norwell. Our 12 new girls are mainly freshmen but a few upperclassmen also decided to join. It's an extremely athletic and talented group of girls and their tennis skills have come so far in just three short weeks."

The 12 new players are: Juniors: Ashley Curran, Carly Gundersen. Sophomore: Maya Placek. Freshmen: Elizabeth Arruda, Nikki Federle,

New team gets first varsity win

By William Wassersug
wwassersug@wickedlocal.com

Last year, the Cohasset girls golf team started out as a club team and played well enough to be noticed.

The notice turned into the team being named a varsity squad.

This week, the girls hit a milestone, winning their first match as a varsity team, beating Mt. Alvernia 5-1 at home (Scituate Country Club).

The Skippers home matches are at Scituate Country Club and Cohasset Country Club.

The long-term outlook for the team is good, considering that the team is made up of freshman and eighth graders.

Leading the way for Cohasset is No. 1 golfer Kiley Crough, an eighth grader.

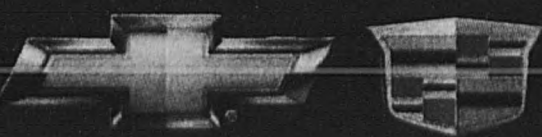

"Kiley handles pressure well," Cohasset coach Nikki Cusenborder said. "She's consistent as a golfer and is a natural athlete."

In the No. 2 slot is eighth grader Emily Moy.

"She's the most focused golfer on the team," Cusen-

BOYS TENNIS

Effort key to success

Boys improve to 4-0

By William Wassersug
wwassersug@wickedlocal.com

If there was a theme song for this year's Cohasset High School boys tennis team, it might sound like Pharrell Williams' hit "Happy".

That would be due to an outstanding start for the team that now checks in at 4-0 after a huge 3-2 win over defending South Shore League co-champion Norwell, Tuesday afternoon.

"We're doing great so far," Cohasset coach Ann Thomae said. "I'm so happy."

A year ago, the Skippers tied for the league crown with Norwell. Tuesday's win gave Thomae a feeling that a title is in reach this season.

"Last year we tied with Norwell," she said. "Yesterday we beat them with guys out."

Cohasset is led by senior captains Eric Weinstein and Doug Fitzgerald.

"Eric typically played second or third singles," Thomae said. "This year he's playing first doubles. He's very versatile. Yesterday he played second singles with guys out and did a great job. He's a great captain, a great leader. He'll do anything for the team."

As for Fitzgerald, Thomae is more than pleased with his attitude and the way he goes about the game.

"Doug is a great role model," Thomae said. "He's a great role model. He's mild mannered and really smart. You hardly have to coach him on the court. He makes great adjustments on the court. He knows his game. He's a coach's dream."

"I love the way the younger kids look up to the captains. They're amazing role models and the tenth graders will learn how to be successful from their example."

In the No. 1 singles position, junior Miles Morin has been outstanding.

"Miles has been our No. 1 since he was a freshman," Thomae said. "He's an NSTA quality player. He plays tournaments as well as high school. We're so lucky to have him. He's having a fabulous season. Yesterday, he had a tough match against (Norwell's) Cam Roche. He did a great job. Everyone has. Guys come out to win."

Another strength is No. 2 doubles.

"Nathan Bumstead is a senior," Thomae said. He's a late bloomer. In the past he wasn't in the mix, then last year he made the decision to be awesome both academically and on the court. He's worked his tail off."

Along with Bumstead, sophomore Jackson Dutton has done well at second doubles.

"We're rock solid there now," Thomae said. "As a pair, they have fun on the court. Anytime they're together they're almost untouchable. Last year he and Nathan were fillers. Now they're solid at second doubles."

Another player doing well is Sam Pitts.

"Sam has won every challenge match this year," Thomae said. "He's playing third singles. He's a sophomore and he's earned his way into the spot."

In all, there are 21 members on the team, and Thomae hopes to get as many as possible into matches, whether varsity or exhibition.

looking for a bit of redemption, not to mention a potential championship rematch later in the season.

"Those should be good marking sticks for us," Beaudoin said. "The talent level is an even level."

For the Skippers, everything starts with faceoff specialist Will Golden, who uses the faceoff to become an offensive weapon.

"He's having a great year," Beaudoin said. "He's an offensive weapon."

Other top returnees include Cole Kissick and Adam Benson in the midfield.

Colin Whelan leads the attack.

"We have a really tall, athletic attack," Beaudoin said. "We also have a strong tall defense. We have two 6'4" kids on the defense. We play a real strong team defense."

The defense, powered by Jack McElgunn, Danny Tangherlini, Tim Gillis and Pat Holloway in front of goalie

Jack Conte, has done their part, limiting every team they've faced to five or fewer goals.

Abington and D-S each scored five.

Beaudoin is pleased with what his team brings to the table.

"We have 11 seniors that are very strong," he said. "They all play football, soccer, wrestling. They're hungry for this."

There is also a new playoff alignment this season that would keep south teams in the south, leaving Cohasset as one of the favorites to win and get back to the final.

As for the team's goals, Beaudoin is looking at more than winning. He's looking to prepare his players for the next level, a goal that is more than reasonable considering the Skippers' history of sending players to colleges.

"My goal is to get the offense and defense as close to the college game as possible," he said. "We have so many players that will play college that we want to be on the same page. We have a team-first Cohasset will have its hands full on Saturday when they travel to Hanover to face another Div. 3 South power.

The Indians started their season in style, outscoring their opponents 36-1 in three victories.

Hanover played Hingham Thursday (results were unavailable at press time).

There will also be big tests Tuesday when the Skippers

Charlotte Marcelli, Mia Martone, Sophie Matthews, Erin McElhinney, Caroline O'Brien, Katie Talacci and Ava Worthington.

Mehan said the schedule will be challenging with some tough non-league matches added to the schedule, including Notre Dame Academy, Hingham, Scituate and Hopkinton.

In the background, manager Emmy McGoldrick will help keep things running.

"We looked to have her as an impact player," Meehan said of McGoldrick. Instead she is recovering beautifully from knee surgery. We are just happy to have her on board."

In the early going, the Skippers have played well, winning all four meets.

"Despite the first two weeks of rain, cold and snow the girls managed to get some time on the court when they could," Meehan said. "When we were forced inside they all worked very hard on their fitness."

The winning started with a win at East Bridgewater.

"They have a brand new tennis facility with gorgeous new courts," Meehan said of EB. "Coach Jamie Hulke spent the last two years without courts and had to play all of her 'home' matches at the visitor's sites. She has been there four years and is also the field hockey coach and must be a good one because despite having no facility and little knowledge of tennis she has 33 girls on the team"

With the new site and friendly coach, Cohasset made a day of it.

"Needless to say we brought everyone and after the 'official' match ended we stayed two more hours (until dark) and got everyone playing," Meehan said. "It was great. The varsity won 5-0. Posting victories were Emma Davis, Emily Livingstone, Caroline Van Etten., Bri Crough/Gabrielle LeMoine, Caroline Evans/Clara Baumgarten. Clara and Emma did a great job of winning quickly and rushing back to CHS for National Honor Society induction."

Next up was Abington.

"We always have a great time playing Abington," Meehan said. "Unfortunately they only have three courts so when we travel there we can't take too many girls. We were able to bring five extras on the mini bus and they all got to play an exhibition match."

The varsity won 5-0. Winners for Cohasset were Emily Livingstone, Caroline Van Etten, Meredith Corry, Bri Crough/Gabrielle LeMoine and Caroline Evans/Ryan Spicer.

Cohasset then hosted Carver.

"Last year's Carver team came in second in the SSL so we knew they would be strong," Meehan said. "Our girls played at the top of their games and came out with yet another 5-0 win"

Winners against Carver were the same as EB.

A big win against Norwell was next.

"Although they fell to a tough Carver team twice last year, Norwell is never a team to be counted out," Meehan said. "Their program has been historically strong and they always have a lot of talent and depth. We were able to beat them 5-0 but there was some great competition, particularly in second and third singles."

Winners for Cohasset were Emma Davis, Emily Livingstone, Caroline Van Etten (who rallied from a first set 4-6 loss to take her match in the third set), Bri Crough/Gabrielle LeMoine and Carolijne Evans/Ryan Spicer.

"Our doubles were on fire and steamrolled through their matches," Meehan said. "They have come out strong this year and are incorporating an aggressive style of net play mixed with lots of signaling and poaching to dominate the opposition. It's exciting to watch."

Finally, Meehan mentioned the team's Red Sox raffle in conjunction with the baseball team to raise money for the program.

"We will be once again having our Red Sox raffle ticket fundraiser (which we do with boy's baseball) to raise money for the program," she said. "So buy a ticket and support the teams."

border said. "She takes it seriously. She can hit the ball a mile."

Another eighth grader, Morgan Langenhagen takes the role of No. 3.

"She takes her gymnastics skill and strength to the golf course," Custenborder said. "She's a competitive young lady."

Charlotte Morrison is a freshman filling the No. 4 position.

"Last year she didn't play," Custenborder said. "She's a nice addition."

The team's captain is freshman Katie McKeon, who plays No. 5 singles.

"Katie is a great leader," Custenborder said. "Her golf continues to improve."

Custenborder said this year is a big one.

"Last year as a club team we played JV matches," she said. "We beat Hingham twice and did well enough that our Athletic Director felt we could hang with varsity teams. We're happy."

the season. The goalies and defense had a relatively easy day and it gave the team the chance to get some new players some reps in the cage, with Allie O'Callaghan and Jenny Wolfe splitting the second half and each recording a save.

The Skippers returned home to Alumni field on Monday night and ran away with a 17-4 victory over Pembroke. Cohasset dominated the draw controls with Corey Golden and Molly Fitzgerald each snaring five and quickly moved the ball down the field with precision. Marina Longo notched her first career hat trick with Golden (3 goals, 2 assists) and Maddie Curley (4 goals, 2 assists) also having big nights.

The defense faced more pressure than the Abington game but they rose to the challenge as Megan McElgunn and Caty Gilman were solid on the back end. Goalies Taylor Frederick and Shea Kearney each played a half and continued to make things very difficult on opposing shooters.

Cohasset will host Notre Dame Academy on Thursday night in what should prove to be a battle.

HANDLING HOMESICKNESS BEFORE CAMP EVEN STARTS

By Bette S. Bussell, Executive Director, American Camp Association, New England

AT camp feeling homesick is normal and most homesickness is mild. Separation from family, friends and the familiarity of home can cause feelings of longing for home and frequent thoughts of home, otherwise known as homesickness, in people of all ages. But, where homesickness is concerned, an ounce of prevention is worth far more than a pound of cure. Research now proves it's essential for all campers to know what to expect and what to do if and when homesickness hits! Homesickness is a universal but highly preventable and treatable phenomenon. Campers and the adults who love them need to understand how to talk about it before camp, which is one key to prevention.

Homesickness Prevention Tips: KNOW whether your child is ready for a separation from home. Discuss this topic with your child. Realize that your child may be ready before you are! If you are unsure, get advice from your child's doctor—but not in front of your child.

INVOLVE your child in helping to choose the camp. This provides a sense of control and minimizes any feeling of being sent away.

LEARN more about the camp and what to expect. Attend Open Houses or camp gatherings in your area. Read and follow every bit of information the camp sends you about what to expect and what to do to prep for camp.

MEET counselors and other campers if possible. Open Houses and camp gatherings are scheduled to familiarize campers and families with the people who will be at camp and with the camp itself. A familiar face can make all the difference on the first day of camp.

TALK about homesickness; don't dwell on it. Make sure the camper knows that these feelings are normal. Research shows that homesickness is a universal experience—everybody experiences some level of it. Plan together to pack much more than clothing and equipment for camp—you can also pack strategies your child can use when homesickness happens.

PRACTICE sleeping away from home! Try a three night stay with relatives or friends. Try it without phone calls; instead practice writing a letter or two.

EXPRESS optimism, not anxiety or ambivalence about the up-coming camp experience. Children find comments like, "I hope you will be okay" and "what will I do without you?" to be worrisome. Preoccupying the child with worries about home while away could sabotage the experience. Your optimism will be contagious. Focus on why you chose the camp you did and all there is to look forward to doing and experiencing there.

HAVE your child mark off each day of the camp session on a calendar. Children like to see how many days they will be away. This helps them to understand how going to camp fits into the summer plan for the family.

CONTINUE with medications used throughout the school year. Medicine for attention, behavior or psychological conditions is as important at camp as it is at school. Don't use camp as an excuse to take a "drug holiday." Prepare the camper and the camp's nurse or counselors to know the medication schedule and the importance of sticking to it.

CREATE a plan with the camper for what to do if homesickness hits! You can also find additional insight and tips from the American Camp Association Online Resource for Families at www.CampParents.org!

Murphy honored again by ECAC

Fairfield University's Jack Murphy a former Skipper star netminder, picked up another weekly honor from the ECAC Lacrosse League.

Murphy was named the ECAC Lacrosse League Defensive Player of the Week for the fourth consecutive week and the fifth time this season while Roe was named the Specialist of the Week for the second consecutive week and the third time this year. Fleming was named the Co-Rookie of the Week for the second time this season.

Murphy turned in another solid performance in goal for the Stags to help them to a 2-0 week. Murphy posted a 7.00 GAA and stopped 19 shots. In addition to his 11 saves against Bucknell, Murphy scooped up five ground balls while causing two turnovers. It was his fifth game with double digit saves. In the win at Michigan, Murphy stopped eight shots.

On the season, Murphy has a 7.98 GAA, good for ninth in the nation, with 107 saves through 11 games. He has stopped 10 or more shots in five games this season, including 15 saves against Stony Brook. For his career at Fairfield, Murphy has made 272 saves, which is good for sixth all-time. He is also 20th among the NCAA Division I Career Active Leaders in saves and 16th in saves per game (10.07). He has been named the ECAC Lacrosse League Defensive Player of the Week eight times over the last two seasons.

O'Brien has been hitting well," Afanasiw said. "He's hitting the ball hard."

O'Brien also knocked in a pair of runs in the Abington game.

As for that loss, Afanasiw wasn't upset. "It was a close game," he said. "Both teams had lots of opportunities, but nobody took advantage and couldn't break it open. A loss isn't always a bad loss. Both teams played well. Abington earned it"

There were positives in the loss.

"Liam Burke had a couple of nice plays," Afanasiw said. "And Brett Dooley is coming into his own at catcher."

Monday, Cohasset beat Carver 8-3.

Tommy O'Brien got the win in relief of starter Tim Cavanaro.

Colin Gideon Murphy was 2-for-2 with an RBI and stolen base.

Chris Haggerty had a big two-run single in the fourth inning breaking up a 3-3 tie and opening up a comfortable lead.

Ryan McKeon pitched a scoreless sixth inning and Jack Chamberlain pitched a scoreless seventh inning for the save.

"It was a very good team effort," Afanasiw said. "Brendan O'Connell made several solid plays at third base in the later innings keeping Carver from building any kind of momentum."

LETTER

Coach Walsh says farewell to team, parents

Dear Cohasset Hockey Parents,

I wanted to first thank you for all of your support these last eight seasons, in my tenure, as hockey coach at Cohasset High School.

These years have been both challenging and fun. During this time, I have been stimulated by the work, the support of the school, the boosters and parents as well as the response from the players.

As some of you know, in addition to my coaching responsibilities over this past year, my regular work career has made many demands on me for time and travel making it a more difficult transition than I ever could have expected or imagined. My love has always been the team of boys that I have had the opportunity to coach and mentor over these last eight years. I have worked with some amazing young men and watched them grow from young boys leaving the eighth grade to young men going off to college or other endeavors. They have become my family, and I theirs.

Keeping all this in mind, it is clear that continuing along the demands of work and coaching that one or both situations will suffer and neither will live up to my expectations. This would not only be unfair to the program, the school and I, but mostly to the boys that I coach; and that would never be acceptable to me.

During March my daughter gave birth to her second child, (my third grandchild), and my daughter-in-law is due to deliver her second child in July. Since my son and his family live out of state, between his job and mine, the only time we can travel to see them is on weekends which will yet make additional demands on me.

Taking all this into consideration, Donna and I have discussed the probability that it may be time for me to retire from coaching in order for me to effectively meet the demands of my family and work while giving Cohasset boys hockey the opportunity to continue to grow.

I will always cherish the years I have coached the Cohasset hockey team and, while in retirement, I will continue to watch the team and program. I met with Ron Ford and as of April 4th, I tendered my notice of retirement effective immediately so that he may post the position early to maximize the response for the position. I wish Cohasset High School and particularly the hockey program continued success.

My hope is to meet with the boys this coming week to answer any questions and to say my good byes.

In closing I would just like to bid you all a farewell. Go Blue!

Sincerely,
Bob Walsh

Note: Coach Walsh sent this letter to parents in the hockey program after announcing his resignation this week. Walsh has been with the program for eight years, and in his most recent campaign, led the Skippers to the MIAA Tournament.

Why can't you buy our windows from stores or contractors?

We take great pride in custom-building our windows, so we won't let just anyone sell or install them. We take care of the entire process: only we sell, build, install and warrant our windows.

How much stronger is our window material compared to vinyl?

Our exclusive Fibrex material is twice as strong as vinyl, and—unlike wood—requires virtually no maintenance.*

How are we able to install windows in just one day?

Our teams of installers are exceptionally trained, tested, and skilled. This is why most installations—including the clean up—are completed in just one day.

Professional writing in the digital era

Regis College launches graduate program to prepare students for careers in shifting media landscape

WESTON — In an era of blogging, Twitter and Facebook, the nature of what we call "writing" has radically changed. A new graduate program at Regis College aims to educate the next generation of professional writers for the digital age.

The Master of Arts in Professional Writing for New Media (MAPW) will prepare students for positions and careers in an ever-shifting media landscape.

The market for the professional writer is undergoing massive changes, and Regis' new program will help students navigate those tectonic shifts. Social media is now used for everything from selling toothpaste to running a revolution; citizen journalists are blogging on an international scale; and many readers lament the downshifting of traditional newspapers. The MAPW will help professionals in many fields prepare for what is to come.

"This program welcomes working journalists, new writers, those taking a logical next step after a bachelor's degree, and those who want to help shape the direction of new media," said Regis President Antoinette Hays, Ph.D., R.N.

An alternative to traditional journalism and creative writing programs, the MAPW will expose students to best practices in digital media, social media, reporting and research techniques. Courses in health and science writing, grant writing, business and technical writing will be offered. Student internships will provide them with real-world experience and networks.

"Students will be prepared to produce the crisp, clear, accurate prose of print media while learning the rules and tools of the digital world," said Stephanie Schorow, program director. "The program will be geared to the marketplace while staying true to principles of honest reporting as well as evocative, effective prose."

writer and teacher. She has worked for the Boston Herald and the Associated Press and as a freelancer for the Boston Globe. Her features and stories have won national and regional awards. She is the author of six non-fiction books, including "Boston on Fire," "The Boston Mob Guide" and "Drinking Boston: A History of the City and Its Spirits." "Stephanie brings a wealth of real-world experience to Regis from her years as both a staff and freelance writer, PR consultant, a researcher and a fact checker," said Malcolm Asadoorian, Ph.D., Regis' vice president of Academic Affairs. "She also has a desire to help the next generation of media producers."

The first course in the Master of Arts in Professional Writing program will begin in May.

For more information, visit the blog at www.TheNewProfessionalWriter.wordpress.com; on Twitter: @RegisMAPW; or at www.regiscollege.edu/graduate\_programs/departments/cfm?id=MA-Professional-Writing.

Regis College is a multi-faceted Catholic university in greater Boston with 2,000 undergraduate, graduate and doctoral students in the arts, sciences and health professions devoted to engagement, service and advancement in a global community. With a strategic graduate focus on health care, Regis College was recently named a Center of Excellence in Nursing Education by the National League of Nursing for the second time. The College also provides accredited pre-school and kindergarten programs and a Life-Long Learning Program (LLARC) for retired seniors. ## Making music in Valencia

Berklee College of Music launches new summer abroad, performance and workshop programs

BOSTON — Berklee College of Music has opened the application process for this year's summer programs to be held at its Valencia campus in the Palau de les Arts Reina Sofia in Spain.

This year, Berklee presents a six-week Summer Study Abroad program for the first time, giving undergraduate students from Berklee and other international music institutions the unique experience of studying at its Valencia campus, while earning credit towards their degrees. In addition to offering its hugely successful intensive Summer Performance Program again, Berklee will also be running two, five-day Symphonic Band Workshops in partnership with the government of Valencia.

"We are opening our doors for the fourth consecutive year to offer international musicians the opportunity to learn and perform with Berklee at our state-of-the-art Valencia campus during our comprehensive summer programs," explained Guillermo Cisneros, Berklee College of Music's vice president for Global Initiatives and executive director of Berklee in Valencia. "The new 'for credit' program enables students to broaden their global experience in a multi-cultural musical environment at the heart of the Mediterranean music scene."

Berklee Valencia 2014 Summer Programs include:

Spain Summer Study Abroad

(May 22 — July 4)

This intensive six-week program will offer both Berklee and non-Berklee students from around the world the opportunity to earn undergraduate college credit at Berklee. Students can choose to immerse themselves in one of three areas: music technology and production, music and entertainment business or liberal arts and Mediterranean cultural studies. All classes are taught by Berklee faculty from the Valencia and Boston campuses. The technological resources of the Valencia campus give students a dynamic and intimate environment in which to experience an enriching selection of courses and study with leading artists and professors.

Valencia Summer Performance Program

(July 21 — Aug. 1)

Open to singers and instrumentalists, this comprehensive two-week course is designed to give students an understanding of what being an excellent musician entails. The program aims to improve and enhance the performance, theory, production and technology skills of musicians of all levels. Studying a variety of contemporary music styles, including jazz, Latin jazz and fusion, pop/rock, R&B, and Mediterranean music, students will spend time in the state-of-the-art recording studios, participate in ensembles and workshops taught by well-known faculty and visiting artists, and learn and network in a multicultural environment.

The programs' artistic director is Victor Mendoza, renowned vibraphonist and program director of the Master's Program in Contemporary Performance at Berklee's Valencia campus.

Symphonic Band Workshops

(July 21-25); Arranging and Composition for Symphonic Bands and Conducting for Symphonic Bands

These workshops, sponsored through a partnership with the government of Valencia, are exclusively for musicians and conductors that are members of the Federación de Sociedades Musicales de Spain's Valencia region.

The Valencia campus summer programs follow Berklee's revolutionary principle that the best way to prepare students for careers in music is through the study and practice of contemporary music. Students will not only have the opportunity to learn and perform at the state-of-the-art international campus, but also spend a summer in the vibrant, colorful and modern European city of Valencia — the crossroads of European, Latin American and Mediterranean cultural and musical traditions — and enjoy all it has to offer, from cultural, historical and architectural sites, to the night life and beaches.

Those interested in attending the Berklee summer programs at the Valencia campus should apply online at: <http://berkleevalencia.org/academic-programs/summer-programs/>

About Berklee in Valencia

Berklee in Valencia is the first international campus established by the renowned Berklee College of Music — and its first campus outside of Boston. Located in the iconic building of the Palau de les Arts Reina Sofia in Valencia, Spain, the magnificent campus has been designed specifically for music and is equipped with state-of-the-art technology. Berklee in Valencia aims to provide a hub to launch the careers across the globe for the most musically talented international students. Offering a unique curriculum, as well as an International Career Center to assist students in their transition from student to music professional, the campus presented Berklee College of Music's first graduate master's degree programs in contemporary music (Scoring for Film, Television and Video Games; Contemporary Studio Performance; and Global Entertainment and Music Business;) in September 2012 and launched a fourth new master program: Music Technology and Innovation in September 2013. In addition, Berklee in Valencia offers a Study Abroad Program for Berklee students from Boston to study for a term at Valencia, Summer and Special Programs, as well as a new way for musicians around the world to join the global music community — as performers, as practitioners, and as leaders.

For more information, visit www.berkleevalencia.org and www.berkleevalencia.org.

Traffic Safety Tip of the Week:

Put your headlights on whenever you turn your windshield wipers on or when there is reduced visibility such as fog. It may not help you to see because of the rain, but it will make you more visible to other drivers. Even vehicles with automatic daytime running lights (DRL) should do this because they only light the front lights. Turning your lights on also makes the rear of your vehicle more visible. Although some states have laws requiring "Wipers on-Lights on", Massachusetts does not yet. COURTESY PHOTO

Vivian F. Higgins

COHASSET - Vivian Francis Higgins, of Cohasset, passed away peacefully April 7, 2014, at the age of 84.
 She was born April 27, 1929, in the Bronx, New York City. Vivian was raised in New York City and moved to the South Shore where she met her future husband, Earle W. Higgins Jr. (deceased), while roller skating at Nantasket Beach.
 She took much pleasure and pride in her children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren.
 Vivian had a love for the game of Scrabble and enjoyed a game just about everyday with her caregiver Maureen Sullivan, whom she was very fond of.
 She was an avid bowler and square dancer, who enjoyed traveling and camping with family and friends.
 Recently, her life was spent in the comfort of Sunrise of Cohasset with its remarkably caring nurses, care givers and reminiscence coordinator.
 She is survived by her daughter,

Diane and her husband Robert Jackson of Cohasset; her son, Frederick and his wife Joanne Higgins of Cohasset; her granddaughter, Kristin Curran and her husband Brian Curran of Cohasset; grandson, Keith Jackson and his wife Lt. Cmdr. Tara Jackson USN of Virginia Beach, Va.; granddaughter, Kaitlin Johnson and her husband Jeffrey Johnson of Plympton; and granddaughter, Kimberly Higgins of Cohasset. She is also survived by 5 great-grandchildren, Emily Curran, John Curran, Chloe Johnson, Nathaniel Johnson and Noah Buchan.

Raquelle's Dance Team has busy spring

The Dance Competition Team from Raquelle's Institute of Dance in Cohasset has been busy this spring competing at the Elite Dance Challenge in Lowell and at the Spirit of Dance Competition in East Bridgewater.

The girls, ages 9-16, performed various jazz, hip-hop, modern, lyrical and musical theater solo and small group numbers. The Junior team's performance of "Fashion" placed in both competitions and was nominated for Nationals in Sturbridge this summer.

The Mini team (pictured) won overall 5th place for their small group jazz number, "Oh My." Congratulations to all!

KENNEDY LIBRARY

Cohasset eighth grader honored for volunteer service

One hundred middle school students from across Massachusetts were honored with the John F. Kennedy Make a Difference Award at the John F. Kennedy Presidential Library and Museum in recognition of the volunteer work the students have performed in their communities.

Cohasset Middle School Vice Principal nominated eighth grader Jake Koncius for the John F. Kennedy Make a Difference Award. Jake was honored as one of 100 middle school students at the JFK Presidential Library on March 13.

For the past 10 years Jake has donated Teddy Bears for the Children's Hospital Teddy Bear Drive in Boston. These bears are given to children who are patients in the hospital during the holidays. Additionally, Jake participates in providing Christmas gifts for families in need on the South Shore and through Atlantic Brokerage Group, a real estate firm he assists in gathering canned goods and turkeys for donation from Thanksgiving and Christmas.

neighborhood, town, or the global community.

"President Kennedy believed that every person can make a difference and each of us should try," said Library Director Tom Putnam. "These students are an inspiring example of JFK's timeless call to service."

The John F. Kennedy Make a Difference Award program is sponsored by the John F. Kennedy Presidential Library and Museum. The John F. Kennedy Presidential Library and Museum is administered by the National Archives and Records Administration and supported, in part, by the Kennedy Library Foundation, a non-profit organization.

SOUTH SHORE ART CENTER

Vcevy Strekalovsky to exhibit paintings at Paul Pratt Library

South Shore Art Center will present a show of oil and watercolor paintings by Vcevy Strekalovsky at Paul Pratt Library, 35 Ripley Road, Cohasset, May 1 through June 30, with a reception from 6 to 8 p.m., on Friday, May 2.

A third-generation painter of Russian heritage, Strekalovsky graduated from Middlebury College in 1960, where he studied with Vermont watercolor artist Arthur K.D. Healy. In 1963, he received a master's degree in architecture from the University of Pennsylvania, and is president of Strekalovsky Architecture Inc. in Hingham. Strekalovsky has also studied painting with artists John Kilroy, Carolyn Anderson, Michael Lynch, Ken Auster, Ned Jacob and Skip Whitcomb.

tion in Connecticut, and in Massachusetts at the South Street Gallery in Hingham, South Shore Art Center in Cohasset, North River Art Society in Marshfield, Scituate Art Association, the Copley Society of Art in Boston, and the Salmagundi Club in New York City. He draws and paints urban and rural landscapes, figures, portraits, still life, and wildlife and livestock in their natural setting, primarily from life.

"I try to paint the essential first impression of subjects that are within the everyday experience of the viewer, and hope to strike a common chord. My hope is that I have conveyed what I see and feel about the light, space, three-dimensional form or personality of a subject with brushstrokes, color and value, and two-dimensional abstract composition. Designing the relationship between forms and spaces in a building is not unlike designing the relationship between shapes in a painting — the goal should be an interesting visual journey," said Strekalovsky.

SOUTH SHORE QUESTS

Outdoor adventures about to get underway

Explore woodlands and other areas of natural beauty on the South Shore. Quests are clue-directed walks through local parks and woodlands and are generally suitable for young and old alike. With the 2014 Quest book in hand, people can follow a series of clues leading to a hidden treasure box containing a guest notebook, rubber stamp, ink pad and information about the area.

Quests are a way to enjoy nature, by turning a walk into a treasure hunt. Get exercise while exploring area wildlife, plants and learning a bit of geology and history in the bargain, and discover places one never knew existed.

Quest hikes will vary in length, trail difficulty and complexity of finding the clues. Some Quests takes less than 30 minutes, most take about 1 hour and some may take up to 1 1/2 hours to complete. The 2014 Quest book contains 16 Quest trails, in various locations along the South Shore, including Braintree, Canton, Cohasset, Hingham, Hull, Norwell, Quincy, Pembroke, Randolph, Rockland, Scituate and Weymouth.

South Shore Quest Books, which cost $5, are available at Holly Hill Farm, Cohasset; Hingham Public Library; Hull Public Library; South Shore Audubon Society; Marshfield; South Shore Natural Science Center, Norwell; Turner Free Library, Randolph; New England Wildlife Center, South Weymouth; and Blue Hills Fitness, Braintree. The Quests season takes place April 15 through Nov. 15.

Horoscope

SALOME'S STARS FOR RELEASE WEEK OF APRIL 21, 2014

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) You're doing better on the flexibility issue, but you still need to loosen up a bit to show you can be less judgmental and more understanding about certain sensitive matters.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Your personal aspect continues to dominate this week. But try to make time to deal with important career-linked matters as well. A change of plans might occur by the weekend.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Excuses are not really needed for much of the confusion occurring this week. However, explanations from all parties could help in working things out to everyone's satisfaction.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) That surprising (but pleasant) recent turn of events continues to develop positive aspects. But be prepared for a bit of a jolt on another issue that needs attention.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Creating a fuss might bring you that attention you want. But are you prepared for all the explaining you'd have to do? Better to use more subtle ways to make your bid.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) With education continuing to be a strong factor this week, this could be the time to start learning some new skills that can later be applied to a bid for a potential career move.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) You might do well to reconsider some of your current time priorities before you get so deeply involved in one project that you neglect meeting a deadline on another.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) With an important decision looming, you need to be careful about the information you're getting. Half-truths are essentially useless. Get the full story before you act.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) Find out what everyone's role is expected to be before accepting that workplace proposal. Getting all the facts now could prevent serious problems later on.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) A flexible position on a workplace matter could be the best course to follow during the next several days. A personal issue also benefits from an open-minded approach.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) Involving too many people in your workplace problem can backfire. Remember: Allegiances can shift. Ask trusted colleagues for advice, but don't ask them to take sides.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Before submitting your suggestions, take more time to sharpen the points you want to make. The clearer the presentation, the more chance it has to get through when submitted.

(c) 2014 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

BORN THIS WEEK: Your clear sense of who you are gives you confidence when you need to tackle difficult situations.

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles?

Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Level: Moderate

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
